OUR PARIS CORRESPONDENCE.

Russian Diplomacy Ahead—The Joint Note of France, England and Austria—How Russia has Anticipated It—Silence on the American Question, &c., &c.

PARIS, Tuesday, April 14, 1863.

Russian diplomacy has got fairly ahead of the diplomacy of the West. It has always been said that the Slavonic brain was the strongest, and that for the future the young brain of Russia was to furnish the diplomatic element of Europe. After a two months' incubation—or, more properly, a two months' dispute—France, England and Austria have agreed to send separate dispatches to Russia, remonstrating with that Power in favor of Poland, but each in vague terms, and each from a different starting-point. These dispatches were to arrive at St. Petersburgh simultaneously, and be read to Prince GORTSCHAKOFF the same day. But Russia has completely checkmated this movement. While the three Powers were elaborating their grand, but very innocent plan of attack, Russia also was preparing to meet it. She armed Cronstadt, and called her soldiers under the flag. Then, a day or two before the arrival of the notes of remonstrance from the three Powers, she published an act of amnesty for the Polish insurgents, if they would lay down their arms, and gave a promise to accord the Poles more political liberties. Now, these concessions of Russia go certainly as far as the diplomatic notes asked her to go; so that, when these notes arrive at St. Petersburgh, all the Prince GOSTSCHAKOFF will have to do will be to refer the Ministers of the three Powers to the Imperial decree granting, if not the very things they ask, at least responding sufficiently to their demands.

Thus far Russia will have the advantage, but then will break out new difficulties, perhaps the real difficulties of the situation. The three Governments must then define with more precision the meaning of their respective notes—that is if they wish to accomplish anything—and then as each explanation will necessarily vary, one will say to the other, "Oh, I can't agree to that!" and the quarrel will recommence with more virulence than ever, and with less hope of a happy solution. But suppose a happy solution should be arrived at—what then? If Russia is only asked to make concessions, with a distinct indication of what those concessions are to be, she will reply by saying that they are already granted, and that the whole discussion is useless. If the three Powers demand the separation and independence of Poland, Russia will refuse and prepare to fight the coalition. Is a coalition possible between the three Powers? Russia knows that it is not, and therefore it is that her diplomacy has the advantage, and that she is to the eyes of all playing the beau rôle in the affair.

The question may be thus summed up: Russia will grant certain concessions to the Poles and will probably faithfully carry them out, but she will fight all Europe rather than renounce her sovereignty over the disputed territory, and there is no State in Europe willing to go to war for the independence of that territory.

Never, since the commencement of the civil war in America has there been so long a silence on the American question as that we are now enjoying. The Moniteur alone permits itself the luxury of treating on American affairs at any length, and as usual gives its readers nothing but statements and opinions damaging to the Union. It was so unkind of Mr. SEWARD to refuse to aid M. DROUYN DE LHUYS' attempt at a grand diplomatic coup! And now the American Secretary is getting paid off for it by a persistent refusal of the official paper to see anything good in the Union or in the Union cause! The last dodge of the official paper is a long argument in this morning's issue, going to prove that the political meetings and votes in the National armies in the field are a bad omen for the stability of the Republic; for where were soldiers ever allowed to dabble in politics, or to dictate to the populations which sent them into the field, without sooner or later turning upon those populations and making them feel their power? The writer then quotes the treasonable resolutions of the Legislatures of New-Jersey and Pennsylvania in support of his theory of a general dissolution of things, social and political, in the North, and we may, therefore, look to-day for a rise in the premium on the Cotton Loan.

AMERICAN AFFAIRS IN ENGLAND.

The New Pirate Virginia.

THE MANNER IN WHICH SHE RECEIVED HER SUPPLIES.

The Daily News gives the following in regard to the new rebel steamer Japan or Virginia:

"Early on Saturday morning, the 11th, a channel steamer put into Plymouth and landed 18 persons from the Confederate cruiser Virginia, late the Japan. Two of these persons were men who had been scalded through the bursting of a feed-pipe in the engine-room of the Virginia, whilst they had been acting as firemen, and they are now in the South Devon and East Cornwall Hospital at Plymouth, under medical treatment for the injuries they have sustained. In consequence of this arrival, something has been learnt respecting the manner, the escape, and the arming of this new Confederate cruiser. The well-known firm of the DENNYS, of Dumbarton, built the Japan for, it was supposed, the Emperor of China. She is a very fine steamer, of 700 tons burden, and is fitted with engines of 250-horse power. She was launched on the 16th of January last, and sailed from the Clyde on the 3d April. When she left the Clyde she had been named the Virginia, and some forty carpenters went out in her to construct a magazine. These returned to Greenock in the tug steamer that towed the Virginia out. The day after she had sailed an order arrived at Greenock, under the circumstances narrated in our columns last week, directing that she be seized. After the Virginia left the Clyde she made her way round into the English Channel. In the meantime one of the steamers that ply between Newhaven and France, chiefly for the conveyance of French produce, intended for the London markets, had been taken up by 'a gentleman' to carry some packages and hardware across the Channel. He stipulated for the power of taking the steamer to another port than the one to which he ordinarily traded, or to discharge the cargo into another vessel if he thought fit to do so. The steamer, however, did take some passengers for France, and left Newhaven as if on her regular voyage across the Channel. The Captain, however, had instructions from the owners to follow the direction given by the 'gentleman.' When they got fairly into the channel the latter said, before going across he wished to make for a certain point, meaning the latitude and longitude somewhere between Plymouth and Falmouth. 'All right,' said the skipper, and away they went and soon arrived at the point indicated, and there found a steam vessel, with which the gentleman said he would like to communicate. He went on board the new steamer but soon returned and told the captain that he had sold the cargo, and it must be put on board that vessel. The Newhaven man brought his craft alongside, having the misfortune to carry away his boom in doing so. The cargo was transferred to the large steamer, which was no other than the Confederate cruiser Virginia, and the cargo of the Newhaven steamer was guns, arms, and ammunition. The cargo safely transferred, some 17 men were transhipped from the Virginia to the Newhaven steamer, and these included the two men injured by scalding. With these men, on the 'gentleman's' directions, the Newhaven steamer made for Plymouth, and arrived there early on Saturday morning. The Virginia has gone westward, probably to follow the practices of the Alabama. She is described as a vessel of great strength, and capable of a high rate of speed. She is armed with ten guns in addition to two of Whitworth's 68-pounders on pivots."

The Case of the Alexandra.

The Solicitor of the Treasury was engaged in a private inquiry into the merits of the case affecting the alleged Confederate gunboat Alexandra, and it was expected that the matter would soon be ripe for investigation in a Court of law.

From the London Times, April 13.

Up to a late hour on Saturday no change had taken place in respect to the circumstances under which the screw steamer Alexandra has been seized at Liverpool, on the allegation that she is intended as a Confederate gunboat. She still remained in charge of two officers of the Customs, and no work is permitted on board of her, nor is anything allowed to be removed from the vessel. In regard to the Alexandra, it is understood that affidavits setting forth the grounds on which the vessel has been attached will be, or have already been, prepared and forwarded to the Court of Exchequer, and on the nature of those affidavits further ulterior proceedings will be taken or the vessel will be released.

THE ALEXANDRA IN PARLIAMENT.

In the House of Commons, on April 14.

Lord R. MONTAGU asked the Under Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs whether Her Majesty's Government would lay upon the table of the House copies of the papers or documents which justified them in seizing the Alexandra at Liverpool?

Mr. LAYARD—As the case of the Alexandra is still under consideration and discussion, I am unable to lay the papers upon the table of the House.

Other American Topics.

"RECRUITS FOR THE FEDERAL ARMIES."

The Irish Times says:

"Yesterday morning, the Montreal Company's fine steamship St. Andrew sailed from Kingstown with nearly 400 vigorous young men, reasonably believed to be recruits entrapped for the Federal armies. They were lodged and fed in the city by American agents, and kept together until the steamer arrived at Kingstown. They were then conveyed in a small steamer to Kingstown, and placed on board. Ostensibly they are engaged to construct a railway at Chicago."

MISSTATEMENTS CORRECTED.

The London Observer, under the heading of "Misstatements of the Week," and marked "Communicated," has the following:

"There is no truth in the pretended 'Exposures of Federal tactics' and setting forth that the Government of the United States have paid agents and emissaries employed to get up meetings of sympathy with the North, &c. No truth in the statement that persons are authorized to enlist in Ireland or elsewhere in Great Britain men for the United States army. No truth in the publication purporting to be 'Federal blunders' of the American Consul at Liverpool and the Foreign Office in relation to the sailing of the Japan, Confederate steamer. No foundation for the claim that the Peterhoff is an entirely innocent vessel and above suspicion; but, on the contrary, there is a strong impression that a portion of her cargo, at least, was shipped under a contract sanctioned by Mr. MASON, that the clothing on the bills of lading was uniforms, the boots, cavalry boots, &c., with 'villainous saltpetre' for ballast."

AFFAIRS IN THE WEST INDIES.

The London Shipping Gazette suggests that the British Admiralty should instruct the Commanders of cruisers on the West India Station to convoy vessels whose papers are in order, and respecting whose destination there is no reasonable ground of suspicion; leaving vessels which fail to produce evidence of being engaged in legitimate commerce to the consequences of their acts.

Advices from St. Thomas to March 29 had reached England by the West India mail steamer. A letter from that place says:

"St. Thomas is fast becoming a mere Federal station, and the arrests of ships become more and more unscrupulous. No less than seven Federal war steamers are expected to arrive soon, and the United States Consul stated that 5,000 tons of Anthracite coal were to be sent to form a depot. Strange occurrences are daily happening here, caused by the presence of Federal war steamers, which keep up steam in harbor, and the commanders of which act in an extraordinary manner. On the 20th March, the British steamer Neptune left the harbor, bound for Havana, in ballast, and was pursued, though unsuccessfully, by the Federal steamer Wachusetts. On the 24th, the British steamer Dolphin sailed for Nassau, with a general cargo. Within fifteen minutes she was chased by the Wachusetts, boarded, captured, and sent to Key West with a prize crew on board. The Wachussetts returned to St. Thomas, and her Majesty's ship Nill was then in harbor, but not until 48 hours after her return, nor until the Nill had left, did the facts transpire that the Wachusetts had sixteen of the crew of the Dolphin on board. They were subsequently landed in a state of destitution, and will be sent home in the Atrato as distressed British subjects. The Dolphin, it appears, was bound to Nassau, and the crew engaged only to that port, it being intended that she should be sold there to the highest bidder."

The following letter from ROBERT BOYD LAMB (her Majesty's Consul at St. Thomas, Agent for Lloyds and also for the Liverpool Underwriters' Association) was posted in the Underwriters' Rooms at Liverpool:

ST. THOMAS, March 28.

To Thomas Court, Esq., Secretary Underwriters' Association, Liverpool:

SIR: On the 24th instant the British steamer Dolphin left this port for Nassau, and immediately afterward the Federal war steamer Wachussetts steamed out, overhauled and captured the Dolphin, and sent her to Key West in charge of a prize crew, whereon she returned here and landed the crew of the Dolphin, who go home by this mail steamer.

It is stated that the Federal Commanders have declared that they will take all small steamers bound to leeward. Although this is a foreign port, the presence of some of Her Majesty's ships would make them act differently, interrupting, as they are, the commerce of this place."

Your obedient servant, R. B. LAMB.

The News of the 15th, in its financial column, states that "the upward tendency is checked by a vague apprehension entertained by some of the speculators that some difficulty may occur between our own and the Federal Government, either through the affair of the Peterhoff or the negotiation of the Confederate Loan in this country."

The Times publishes a communication from the West Indies, detailing the circumstances of the seizure of the Dolphin, which is characterized as an "outrage." The writer says:

"It is not a little singular that the Admiralty Agent, bearer of dispatches relative to this fresh outrage, should be Capt. WILLIAMS, of Trent renown."

In its city column the Times takes the position that even if the Peterhoff should be condemned in our Courts, the British Government could not acquiesce, as it would thus concede the right of our cruisers to seize vessels trading between neutral ports.

The following dispatch appears in the Shipping Gazette:

NORTH SHIELDS, Wednesday, April 15.

The Directors of the Tynemouth Chambers have resolved to memorialize Government, urging an immediate increase to our fleets on the West India and North American stations, to protect our ships engaged in legitimate commerce from the attacks of Federal cruisers.

THE RECENT DECISION OF EARL RUSSELL.

The London Times, in its City Article, says:

"The recent intimation from the Foreign Office, which seems to indicate that, provided the United States Government allege a legal pretext, no matter whether it be unsupported by direct proof, or even rational assumption, the Federal cruisers will be fully entitled to carry off our vessels for adjudication in their Prize Courts, is regarded by the commercial classes here as virtually putting it in the power of any belligerent to stop or embarrass our trade with the whole world. While the feeling of the mercantile public of London is as strong as ever in favor of the principle of non-intervention, they have also a lively sense that there is no surer method of rendering peace hopeless, than that of permitting direct wrong to pass unnoticed. Few persons can doubt that if the Trent outrage had been tolerated, it would have been followed by acts which long before this would have brought us into war, and there are many who believe that whatever danger may now exist, is more likely to arise from our forbearance on that occasion in not demanding the removal of Admiral WILKES, than from any other cause."

COTTON FROM NASSAU.

From the London News, April 15.

Yesterday the bark Southerner arrived in the Mersey from Nassau, with 600 bales of cotton on board. The vessel is consigned to FRAZER, NEWBOHN & Co., of Liverpool, and when entering the river she hoisted the Confederate flag.

THE CONFEDERATE LOAN.

On the 12th the Confederate Loan was quoted at 1⅛ to 1¾ premium. On the 13th it was as high as 2 premium, but on the 14th there were no sales above 1¾. The scrip was to be ready for delivery on the 15th.

SHIP BUILDING ON THE WEAR.

From the London Times, April 16.

The market for new vessels, notwithstanding the flatness of freights generally, continues pretty active, the recent heavy losses not having been yet altogether replaced. Lloyd's quarterly list of ships building on the Wear shows that on the 1st of April inst., there were 100 vessels on the stocks, 53 of which were sold and 47 unsold. There are now 13 vessels building of iron, with an aggregate tonnage of 9,037, and only two of these vessels are unsold. At the present time, when most of the private dockyards in the country are understood to be watched by Federal spies, it may be as well to mention that in the port of Sunderland, the largest shipping mart in the empire, there is not a single vessel at present in course of construction about whose future employment the remotest suspicion can be entertained. Out of the 100 vessels on the stocks only five are steamers, all iron, and utterly unsuited for the sort of work that is being performed by the Alabama and the other Confederate rovers.

THE SPY SYSTEM IN LIVERPOOL.

From the London Times.

It is currently reported that the head constable of Liverpool, acting under instructions from Government, is employing Detectives COUSIN, SKAIFE, SMITH and HOWE to go about incog. and obtain information respecting suspicious vessels, and also to watch the movements of leading Confederates. It is alleged that these detectives have already attempted to bribe the employes of American firms. It is understood the Mayor was first called upon to initiate the spy system, but declined, and that it is done against the wishes of the Watch Committee.

ENGLISHMEN FORGING "GREENBACKS."

From the Sheffield Independent.

On Saturday afternoon, a person carrying on business as an engraver, at Sheffield, and one of his workmen, were apprehended on a charge of forging American Government notes, probably such as are known to our readers by the now familiar term "greenbacks." Several months ago information was communicated, anonymously, to the Police and the American Minister, that an engraver in this town was doing a brisk trade in the manufacture of American notes. In a short time afterward, Sergeant SPITAL, a London detective, came down to Sheffield, and has for several months been prosecuting inquiries in conjunction with the Federal Vice-Consul here and the Sheffield police. We hear that their inquiries satisfied them that large numbers of notes, varying in value from $5 to $10, have been forged in Sheffield and sent to New-York, where they got into circulation, to the great injury of the Government and the public.

THE POLISH REVOLUTION.

Rejection of the Offer of Amnesty—The Revolution Gaining Strength.

A late telegram by the Persia announced that an Imperial manifesto had been issued granting a full amnesty to all Poles who shall lay down their arms and return to their allegiance by the 13th of May. A Cracow telegram of the 13th says;

"The proposed amnesty has been universally rejected. It leaves Poland in the same position as before the insurrection. A protest against the proposed amnesty has been circulated."

The Czas of Cracow publishes dispatches, stating that notes were dispatched to the Powers from St. Petersburgh, simultaneously with the issue of the Czar's manifesto granting amnesty to the Polish insurgents. The Czas says:

"This step of Russia was taken with the object of preventing intervention. The manifesto does not promise to change the state of things which brought about the revolution. It only returns to the position existing before the 22d of January, neither more nor less, the position which drove the Poles to arms. How will the country and the Powers accept the manifesto? It is not for us to reply, but it is doubtful whether the Powers will be content. The insurrection will reply in the name of the whole country, by fixing the term of the 1st of May for laying down arms. The amnesty, in fact, recognizes the insurrection, imposes upon the Powers the obligation of recognizing it as a belligerent party, and may raise hopes of an armistice."

A majority of the Paris journals express dissatisfaction with the manifesto of the Czar, and the general opinion there was that the proffered amnesty would be interpreted in Poland as a signal of distress, and might further embolden the insurgents.

A late dispatch from Thorn says that a manifesto of the Revolutionary Committee of Warsaw had been published, rejecting the amnesty offered by the Emperor.

A telegram of the 14th, from Cracow, says:

"News received here from Russian Poland states that the Czar's amnesty has had an immense effect in redoubling the intensity of the insurrection. Every one wishes to set out even without arms to join the movement. At Konen the insurgents have gained a victory over the Russians. At Straszow an engagement has taken place between the Russians and a detachment of Poles under Maj. POLACHO. Another large detachment of insurgents, under ANDRUSZIEWICZ, has appeared in the District of Marianople. The rising in Lithuania continues to extend. CZACHOWSKI has been supplied with munitions of war from Brody."

Another dispatch says: "Engagements in which the Poles were victorious had taken place at Cicehocineo and Flockie. The result of other combats which had occurred at Sarwohle, Jubelski and Kuflew, in Podlachia, had not as yet transpired."

The Czas of Cracow announces that CZACOSKI, by clever manœuvres, has maintained, with 1,500 men, the position formerly occupied by LANGIEWICZ. The insurrection in Pollachia is gaining ground. The Marquis WILLOPSKI has been challenged by Counts BRAMCKI and CHOJECKI.

LANGIEWICZ had declared to the Austrian authorities that he could no longer be bound by his parole. It was expected, therefore, that he would be placed under stricter guard. A fresh attempt, on the part of some Russian Cossacks, to violate the Austrian frontier has been frustrated by Austrian Hussars. Several Cossacks were taken prisoners.

The Committee of the Revolutionary Government in Wilna had issued a manifesto stating the abuses of the Russian Government, and calling upon the inhabitants to rise in insurrection, declaring that Lithuania and Little Russia are inseparable portions of Poland. In consequence of this manifesto, the peasantry and the younger portion of the nobility had taken up arms against the Government.

Nearly the whole of the active Russian army, except the Sixth corps and a portion of the Fifth, was said to be engaged in fighting in Poland.

Great Britain.

Sir GEORGE CORNWALL LEWIS, Bart., Secretary of State for War, died at his seat in Radnorshire on the 13th inst., after a brief illness. No one is yet named as his successor in the Ministry. The papers all regard the loss as a severe one for the Cabinet.

The House of Commons reassembled on the 13th inst. for the first time after the Easter holidays. The proceedings were unimportant.

Warm tributes were paid to the memory of Sir G. C. LEWIS by Mr. WALPOLE, Lord PALMERSTON and Mr. DISRAELI, and the House adjourned as a mark of respect.

The House of Lords met on the 14th, but the proceedings possessed merely local interest.

France.

A Paris telegram gives a report that the Prince and Princess of Wales will visit the Emperor NAPOLEON at Fontainbleau toward the middle of May.

The Paris Bourse on the 14th was dull and heavy. Rentes declined ⅛ per cent., closing at 70.05.

Italy.

The Opinione, of Turin, publishes an article denying that the Government had demanded the removal from the Canton of Ticino of the conspirators of the party of action. The Italian Ministry, in the note dated March 26, merely informed the Federal Government of the preparations that were being made for action. This measure had been adopted with a view of warding off from the Swiss Government the unpleasant complications which might have ensued in the event of armed bodies from Swiss territory invading the neighboring country.

The Calcutta, China and Australian Mails.

By the arrival of the Calcutta mail we have papers from Calcutta to the 9th March, Hong Kong to the 1st March, and Melbourne to the 24th of February. Commercially, the news has been anticipated by the telegrams already published. From India the general news is unimportant. Warned by the folly of Railway Boards in England, Government was about to establish a special audit office to supervise the accounts of railways.

CHINA.

The principal intelligence refers to a defeat sustained by a combined force of WARD's and Imperial troops before the City of Tai-Tsan. The expedition consisted of 2,500 men, with 22 pieces of cannon and abundance of ammunition. The force of artillerymen amounted to 700. The number of killed, wounded and missing was 500 men, but stragglers were expected to come in. Capts. MAUNDER, MCCARTHY, MCLEOD and BOSWORTH were killed, and twelve other officers, besides four marines, wounded.

The rebels fought admirably, and were all well armed with European muskets.

JAPAN.

The principal item of intelligence is the destruction of the newly completed British residency at Jeddo. Fire and gunpowder were the means employed, and the incendiaries, beyond a doubt, were the Government of the Tycoon.

AUSTRALIA AND NEW-ZEALAND.

The production of Gold in Melbourne exhibits a slight falling off as compared with last year. The rush of passengers from Melbourne for the new Gold fields at Otago, New-Zealand, was very great. In six weeks the population of Otago increased 7,000.

The Melbourne Correspondent of the London Times says, the weekly production in the province of Otago ranges from 12,000 to 15,000 ozs., and new fields are opening out in all directions. Some enterprising prospectors have penetrated to the west coast.

They have discovered a practical gap in the mountain chain, by which they reached the sea, and they found traces of gold at every stage of their journey. There have also been new discoveries of gold in the province of Nelson.

Importations at Melbourne had been on rather a heavy scale, while exports only slightly increased. Exchange was at a premium of 1 per cent. for 60 days' bills, and two per cent. for 3 days' sight.

The House of Assembly at Melbourne had passed a resolution guaranteeing a subsidy of £74,000 a year for steam communication with England by the Cape.

New-South-Wales and New-Zealand had come to an arrangement to promote the Panama route.

An attempt to reduce the wages of compositors at Sydney from 1s. to 10d., has resulted in an advance to 1s. 2d.

LATER FROM INDIA.

The Bombay mail of March 29 arrived at Alexandria on the 13th of April. Cotton goods at Bombay were higher, and still advancing. For raw cotton, also, higher prices were demanded. Exchange, 2s. ⅝d. Freights to Liverpool, 72s.

CALCUTTA, Friday, March 27.

Shirtings and Twist firm and active. Indigo—nothing doing. Exchange, 2s. Freight to London, for Seeds, 92s. 6d.@95s. ₩ ton.

West Coast of Africa.

The mails from the various places on the West Coast, (for March,) had reached England. The trade in the rivers was very dull, but a good season was expected. The King of Dahomey was threatening Lagos with a large army.

A slaver had been captured off Sierra Leone with 542 slaves on board.

THE DEPARTMENT OF THE GULF.

ONE DAY LATER FROM NEW-ORLEANS.

Opelousas Captured by Gen. Banks.

Communication Opened with Admiral Farragut.

Immense Captures by Our Forces.

Steamship Empire City, Capt. BAXTER, for New-Orleans April 20, via Key West on the 24th inst., with passengers to M. O. ROBERTS, arrived yesterday morning.

Capt. BAXTER reports that news had been received that General BANKS had captured Opelousas, and he had communicated with Admiral FARRAGUT above Port Hudson. Gen. BANKS had captured a large number of rebels, also a large amount of stores, cotton, ammunition, &c., from the rebels.

About 500 rebel prisoners were arriving daily at New-Orleans when the Empire City sailed.

ADDITIONAL PARTICULARS.

From persons arriving on board the Empire City, we have obtained some additional particulars of the movement of Gen. BANKS upon Opelousas.

Our forces are in possession of the town and of the railroad, which extends between that point and Alexandria, near the Red River, and which is understood to be in at least partial operation.

Intelligence had been received that Gen. BANKS' forces were moving along the line of the railroad, and that communication had been established between his forces and Admiral FARRAGUT's fleet, probably in the Red River. It is known that the Admiral has blockaded that river, and that the rebels had collected a large quantity of stores and boats at Alexandria, which were liable to capture by our fleet.

The news, which is also received by the Empire City, that Gen. BANKS had taken possession of large amounts of rebel property, is believed to indicate that a part of our troops had reached Alexandria. A significant fact in this connection is that Gen. BANKS had sent to New-Orleans for all the National flags that could be procured. Doubtless these flags were to be used to cover the property. It is not impossible that all the stores of the rebels at Alexandria and their transports have fallen into the hands of our army and navy.

INTERESTING FROM PORT ROYAL

ARRIVAL OF THE STEAMSHIP ARAGO.

Charleston Still Threatened by Our Forces.

Progress of the Enrollment of the Blacks.

The U. S. steam transport Arago, HENRY A. GADSDEN commanding, arrived at this port yesterday, from Port Royal, in sixty-eight hours.

It was believed at Hilton Head that the movement upon Charleston had not been abandoned. The main body of Gen. HUNTER's army did not return to Port Royal after the failure of the late attack, and yet remain in strong force at North Edisto and Stono Inlets. Kiawah Island is occupied completely, and the troops upon Coles' and Folly Islands are intrenching. Reinforcements and supplies of war material were still going forward from Port Royal.

The iron-clad fleet has been thoroughly repaired, and strengthened wherever the recent experience demonstrated them to be weak. Two of the Monitors are at Port Royal, and five at North Edisto. The New Ironsides was blockading off Charleston Bar.

Drafting all the able-bodied negroes into the army was being prosecuted vigorously. On Friday last a meeting was held at Hilton Head, to which the blacks were invited. A crowd came and listened to addresses from several gentlemen explanatory of the object of the Government in ordering a draft. The enthusiasm of the negroes was excited, and upon a call for volunteers, every able-bodied man in the audience stepped forward and asked to have his name enrolled. By this means 100 recruits for Col. BENNETT's Third Regiment of South Carolina Volunteers were obtained. On Hilton Head Island there are 600 blacks capable of bearing arms, and they are at once to be organized into companies—passing half their time at drilling, and half at laboring in the Quartermaster's Department. The First black regiment (Col. HIGGINSON's) is doing good service on outpost duty at Port Royal Ferry. The men are in plain sight of the rebels, who express great disgust at having to contend against their late servants. The Second regiment (Col. MONTGOMERY's) is encamped near Beaufort. It numbers 600 men, who evince aptness in acquiring military knowledge.

On Saturday last, Gen. SAXTON sent a number of rebels from Florida across to the enemy's lines. The intercourse on this occasion was conducted in a frigidly polite manner. After the business was finished, the rebel officer modestly inquired, "When will the attack upon Charleston be renewed?" He was promptly answered "that the news from England was unimportant." Then on our side the question was propounded: "Has the Army of the Potomac moved yet?" To this the rebel reply was: "We mainly depend upon you for water transportation." With such-like sapient conversation the interview was concluded.

The enemy appeared to be gradually extending his lines toward us at Port Royal. Dawfuskie Island, which heretofore has been neutral ground, was occupied last week by the rebels in force. There have been two or three raids attempted recently upon Hilton Head and Port Royal islands. On each occasion, however, our pickets proved to be on the alert, and the enemy was not permitted to land. There is no great apprehension felt at these evidences of rebel wakefulness.

A side-wheel steamer, painted black, and displaying English colors, was discovered at daylight on Saturday last, making her way outward across North Edisto Bar. Our pickets stated that she had communicated with the rebels at Eatonsville, a few miles south of Edisto, by means of small boats, but they were not able to determine her character in time to give an alarm. As it would be a slow and altogether unprofitable process to attempt evading the blockade by lightering goods in small boats, it is considered probable that the mission of the suspicious craft was to receive additional officers and crew, when she would add herself to the number of the Anglo-Confederate pirates.

The Free South of April 25 says:

"For the last ten days the St. Helena Islanders have been on the look-out for old JOHN POPE, one of the largest of the secesh proprietors on that island. He is reported to have been seen on the island by some of the negroes, and the Captain of one of the gunboats sent word to the village that there was reason to believe he was either on the island or had been there within the week.

It is also reported that three rebels came to the house of a negro on the upper end of this island, and ordered a dinner to be prepared for them. They said they had lost the way, and, after making many inquiries about the troops, fortifications, &c., departed. A boat was soon after observed making directly across Broad River, containing three men; doubtless, the same party."

Surprise and Defeat of Marmaduke's Advance Guard.

MARMADUKE'S PLANS AND PROJECTS.

MOVEMENTS OF GEN. PRICE.

ST. LOUIS, Tuesday, April 29.

The correspondent of the Democrat, with Gen. VANDEVER's command, says that at about 10 o'clock on Sunday night, a rebel regiment under Col. NEWTON, the advance guard of MARMADUKE's army, which was then retreating from Cape Girardeau, were surprised three miles west of Jackson, while cooking supper, and loitering around their camp-fires. Two small howitzers, loaded with musket-balls, and hauled by hand, within thirty yards of them, were simultaneously discharged, killing and wounding a large number.

At the same time, the First Iowa cavalry charged them, and not a man of their entire regiment, it is supposed, escaped—all who were not killed or wounded being taken prisoners. All their horses, guns, camp equipage, and several thousand dollars' worth of stolen plunder, were captured.

Early the next morning Gen. VANDEVER advanced, and saw the main body of the enemy in full retreat. He immediately followed, keeping up a constant artillery fire on their rear.

At 2 o'clock P. M. Gen. MCNEIL joined Gen. VANDEVER, and the combined forces continued the pursuit.

Firing was heard all the afternoon, and it is scarcely possible the rebels can escape with their booty.

Gen. MARMADUKE's command consists of Missourians, Arkansians and Texans. They left Powhattan, Ark., on the 15th inst., ostensibly for the purpose of occupying Pilot Knob and Cape Girardeau, as a base of operations for a projected expedition under Gen. PRICE this Summer, but really for plunder. The force was composed of four brigades, under Gen. SHELBY and Cols. BURBRIDGE and GREEN. They had ten pieces of artillery.

The First Nebraska infantry, under Col. BAUMER, did most of the fighting in the rebel attack on Cape Girardeau, and behaved with great gallantry. They were posted in the woods about a mile from town, and kept MARMADUKE's whole force in check, while the guns from the forts played upon them, doing considerable execution. The rebel batteries did no injury to the town. The rebel loss is about 60 killed, and 200 wounded.

Gen. PRICE was reported to be at Little Rock, Ark., ten days ago, with 8,000 troops, preparing for a campaign in Missouri.

Proceedings have been commenced against TRUSTEN POLK, formerly United States Senator from this State, now in the rebel service, in the United States Court to confiscate his property.

THE LAST REBEL RAID.

Slight Damage Done to the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad.

PHILADELPHIA, Wednesday, April 29.

The following has been received by the Baltimore and Wilmington Railroad Company from the President of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad:

BALTIMORE, April 28.

The difficulty occurred west of the coal regions. None of your cars were involved. Your supplies will continue regularly. But one train of empty cars was stopped, which we have recovered. One bridge only was destroyed west of Oakland, which we are reconstructing. We have strong forces at all points, and expect to reopen through to-morrow. No passenger or freight trains have been disturbed upon our entire line. J. W. GARRETT, President.

EXCITEMENT AT PITTSBURGH, PENN.

From the Pittsburgh Chronicle, April 27.

Our city was thrown into a state of some excitement to-day, by the arrival here of a number of citizens of Uniontown with intelligence that a large force of rebels appeared before Morgantown, Va., yesterday, and that the place was surrendered without a blow. Immediately on receiving news of the raid, the Court-house bell at Uniontown was rung, and for a time the most intense excitement prevailed. Various suggestions were offered as to the most effective mode of checking the rebel advance, but in the absence of any reliable information relative to the strength of the enemy, or the course they intended pursuing, nothing practical was done. Some time later it was announced that the rebel force was within two miles of Morgantown, and that the citizens had agreed to surrender the place. It was further stated that Uniontown was to be attacked next, and that the enemy expected to get there by noon to-day. This served to increase the alarm, and a number of citizens left the town, while others proceeded to make such arrangements as they thought best for the reception of the enemy. At a meeting of the officers of the Fayette County Bank it was decided to remove the specie, &c., of the institution to Pittsburgh, and at 8 o'clock last night a special train was started for this city with Mr. A. PATTERSON, the President of the Bank, and a number of other gentlemen, on board. They got here at 2 o'clock this morning, and from them we received our first news of the raid.

Shortly after 9, to-day, the usual train came in from Connellsville crowded with passengers, all of whom had more or less to say on the subject of the raid. From their statements, we learn that Morgantown surrendered, about 4 o'clock, to a force of some 8,000 cavalry, and that the rebels made no secret of their intention to attack Uniontown to-day. The excitement in Uniontown continued, and many were leaving the place in anticipation of the enemy's advance. At Connellsville there was also much excitement. A meeting was called, and it was proposed to send four companies to Uniontown for the purpose of aiding in the defence of the place, but when the men assembled, it was found that less than one-half of them had arms, and the project was abandoned. From Morgantown a number of refugees had come in, all confirming the report of the rebels being in occupation of the town. Their strength was variously estimated at from 4,000 to 8,000, and such dread had the people of their presence that the great mass of the inhabitants fled on their approach. They were said to be well mounted and armed, and confident of being able to whip any force the Yankees could send against them.

Of their movements previous to their appearing before Morgantown, no very intelligible account has yet been received. It is believed, however, that they captured Grafton and Fairmont, but met with a repulse at Clarksburgh, which was defended, we believe, by Col. MULLIGAN's Irish regiment. We have also reports going to show that the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad had been torn up at many points, and that a general movement of the rebels along the line of the road had begun. The Government is fully advised of all their movements, and we are assured steps have already been taken which may lead to the capture of the entire Morgantown force.

Upon the arrival of the Uniontown refugees here, several of them waited on Adj.-Gen. HOWE, with a view of ascertaining what could be done here to check the rebel advance. Mr. HOWE put himself in communication with the Governor, but at the time we write this no reply has been received. In the meantime measures are being taken here to meet the emergency. The militia, as will be seen by a notice elsewhere, have been called out, and volunteers will report for duty this afternoon at Wilkins' Hall. This is a wise precaution. The distance between Pittsburgh and Uniontown might be traveled by a cavalry force in a very few hours, and if the enemy is anything like as strong as reported, he will hardly be content with the capture of the latter place. The next news from Uniontown will be looked for with deep interest.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

The Returning Regiments.

ARRIVAL OF THE TENTH NEW-YORK VOLUNTEERS —THE THIRTY-SEVENTH RECEIVES THEM.

The "McChesney's Zouaves," or Tenth regiment New-York Volunteers arrived in this City yesterday, their term of service having expired. They numbered about 400 men, less than half of their original strength. They have acquitted themselves with credit in all the Peninsular fights, before Richmond, at Antietam and Fredericksburgh. They have been for some time commanded by Col. BENDIX. They were received on their arrival by the Thirty-seventh regiment of this City, Col. ROOME, with full ranks, and the popular welcome was most cordial. The men were well and generally jolly, and many of them will reinlist.

The two regiments marched up Broadway, amid universal enthusiasm. The route taken was along Park-row, into the Park, where they were reviewed by Hon. W. WALSH, President of the Board of Aldermen, and the Common Council. They then proceeded up Broadway to Fourteenth-street, where they were dismissed until Saturday morning, when the Tenth will be mustered out of the United States service.

The following order was issued by Gen. FRENCH, in whose division the Tenth has served for some time past:

HEADQUARTERS THIRD DIVISION, SECOND ARMY CORPS, ARMY OF THE POTOMAC, April 26, 1863.

SPECIAL ORDER No. 115.—The General Commanding the Division in promulgating the order which deprived it of a portion of the Tenth Regiment New-York Volunteers, deems it a duty to express to Col. BENDIX, his officers and men, soon to be mustered out of the service, the high position they have obtained for the regiment in the soldierly character, bravery, discipline and the military tone and bearing not excelled in the army.

He regrets to lose these fine troops, but hopes they soon will return to give their aid to support this glorious Union and to keep our flag to the front.

By order of Maj.-Gen. FRENCH.
J. O. WORRELL, Chief of Staff, A. A. G.

Subjoined is a list of officers returned with the regiment:

JOHN E. BENDIX, Colonel; John W. Marshall, Lieut.-Colonel; John Missing, Major.
Commissioned Staff—H. W. Martin, Adjutant; Chas. Hill, Quartermaster; Dr. Smith, Assistant Surgeon.
Line Officers—Company A—Th. F. Rogers, First Lieut.; John Murray, Second Lieut.

Company F—John A. Brady, Captain; Alfred Bietry, First Lieut.; Leonard M. Bergen, Second Lieut.
Company G—Jos. Newbury, Captain; —— Angel, First Lieut.; Theo. Rogers, Second Lieut.
Company H—Murray, Second Lieut.
Company I—Briggs, Captain; James R. Smith, First Lieut.
Company K—No commissioned officer with them.

There are some 250 three-years' men who enlisted in this regiment since its organization who are still in the service under Acting Major, Capt. GEO. F. HOPPER and Capt. GEO. M. DEWEY. They are doing Provost duty in WEBER's brigade.

The flag of the Zouaves presents a mass of shreds, as it has been through no less than seven battles. Three of its bearers and seventeen of the color-guard have been killed. The Zouaves have stood nobly by their colors, and well deserved the cordial reception accorded to them.

Obsequies of Col. Edmund C. Charles.

The obsequies of Col. EDMUND C. CHARLES, formerly of the Forty-second (Tammany regiment,) were observed yesterday. The body was taken to the Governor's Room, at the City Hall, on Monday, where it lay in state, guarded by Company A, of the Seventy-first regiment, till 2 P. M. yesterday. During that interval the room was visited by a large number of friends and acquaintances of the deceased, also numerous citizens of this and other cities. The coffin rested in the middle apartment, and was draped with the American colors. Upon the lid were placed the sword, belt and cap of the Colonel; also, a beautiful cluster of white flowers, in the form of a circle and cross. At 1½ o'clock, the Fifth regiment, N. Y. M., entered the Park, and formed in double line in the space fronting the City Hall. The Fifth was followed by a detachment of the Fourth Regulars, and Co. A, Seventy-first (Light Guard) regiment, to which company Col. CHARLES was formerly attached. The Light Guards were drawn up in two lines at the base of the steps leading to the corridor of the Hall. At a little after 2 o'clock, the coffin was borne from the Governor's Room to the hearse by the citizen pall-bearers, in the meantime the band of the Seventy-first regiment playing a dirge. The procession was then formed, and moved in the following order:

Fifth Regiment N. Y. S. M.
Officers of the Army not on duty.
Company A, Seventy-first Regiment, (Light Guard,) as Guard of Honor, including the officiating Clergymen and the Hearse.
Carriages containing the Pall-bearers.
Carriages containing the relatives and friends of deceased.
Carriages containing members of the Common Council.
The Tammany Society.

The route of the procession was out of the west gate of the Park and through Broadway, Park-row, Chatham-street and the Bowery to Bond-street, through Bond-street to Broadway, and thence down Broadway to the South Ferry.

The funeral service of the Episcopal Church was performed at Greenwood, by Rev. SAMUEL COOK, and was listened to intently by those present.

Naval.

PURCHASE OF THE IRON PRIZE STEAMER GRANITE CITY.

The Navy Department has purchased the fine iron steamer Granite City, which was recently condemned by the Prize Court, and the vessel has been brought to the Brooklyn Navy-yard, where she is at once to be converted into a man-of-war. The Granite City is almost a new vessel, measures about 800 tons, is 200 feet long and some 40 feet beam. She was captured some time since in attempting to run the blockade. Naval Constructor DELANO has already put hands to work on her, and she will be ready for sea in about three weeks.

STILL ONE MORE.

Yesterday, Admiral GREGORY turned over to Mr. MERRITT the plans and specifications for a light draught iron-clad vessel-of-war. Her name is to be Kako, and Mr. MERRITT will commence to build her at once. As she is the only vessel, save one, of the last thirteen given out, to be built in this vicinity, the constructor, who is one of our most experienced iron workers, has determined to make her inferior to none.

THE PILOT OF THE KEOKUK.

It is said, in naval circles, that this man is almost certain to forfeit his life for his treachery, as the evidence is reported to be very strong against him. There is a misapprehension in regard to his individuality. He is the same who piloted the Keokuk some months since, and drove her ashore. He, of course, had no connection with the ship during her fight, a colored man having piloted her on that occasion.

THE STEAM GUNBOAT OTTAWA ORDERED TO SEA.

Orders have been received here to complete the preparations for sea of the United States steam gunboat Ottawa. She arrived at the Navy-yard on Tuesday from the Novelty Iron Works, where she has been for some months having her machinery overhauled. She is now completely finished, has her officers and crew on board, and is, of course, in commission. The Ottawa is one of the twenty-three gunboats built for the navy after the outbreak of the rebellion. She has done some years good service, and is now as good as new.

New-York Society Library.

At the annual meeting of this Institution, held at the Library Building, University-place, on Tuesday evening, the following Trustees were elected for the ensuing year:

GENERAL CITY NEWS.

AFTERNOON 'CHANGE.—On and after the 1st of May next, it is the intention of the Ship owners, Bankers, Brokers, &c., to hold their afternoon 'change at the new Merchants' Exchange, No. 50 and 52 Pine-street. These rooms are large and airy, and well calculated for the purpose, and the facilities for obtaining news, &c., will be an important feature that our merchants have long been in want of while on 'change.

ARREST OF A SOUTHERN EDITOR.—Provost-Marshal DRAPER arrested on Tuesday a Southerner who has been boarding for a few days past in this City, and who purports to be, or to have been, the editor of the Atlanta (Ga.) Confederacy. He came here from Canada, and had a large amount of gold in his possession. He was committed to Fort Lafayette.

TRANSFER OF POLICE CAPTAINS.—The following transfers among the Captains of the Police will take place to-day: Capt. JOHN J. MOUNT, from the Eighth Precinct to the Eleventh; Capt. R. M. PALMER, from the Eleventh to the Twenty-first; Capt. MORRIS DECAMP from the Twenty-first to the Eighth.

LAW REPORTS.

Important Sewing-Machine Controversy.

UNITED STATES CIRCUIT COURT—APRIL 29.

Before Judge Nelson.

Orlando B. Potter et al. vs. Courtland P. Dixon and Edward Learned.—This is a motion for an injunction. The complaints represent the Wheeler & Wilson and Grover & Baker Sewing-Machine Companies, and the interests of the sewing-machine patents, issued to A. B. Wilson. The defendants represent a patent issued to James G. Wilson, on an application by him for a reissue of a patent for sewing-machines, issued to Akins & Felthousen on Aug. 5, 1851.

The bill of the complainants set forth the various patents and reissues under which they claimed to hold; it stated the various litigated cases in which those patents had been sustained, and the extent to which they had invested capital and manufactured sewing machines under those patents. It also stated that on the application of James G. Wilson for a reissue of the Akins & Felthousen patent, an interference was declared by the Patent-office between the reissues of Allen B. Wilson and this application; that on proof being taken, the Commissioner of Patents decided, on July 25, 1861, in favor of the priority of invention of Allen A. Wilson; that an appeal was taken from this decision to Judge Dunlop, of the Circuit Court of the District of Columbia, who, without deciding this question of priority, ordered the interference dissolved, and the patent to be issued to Jas. G. Wilson, which was accordingly done.

The bill further claims that this reissue was fraudulently obtained, and covers improvements not invented by Akins or Felthousen, and it prayed that this reissued patent, or so much of it as conflicts with the claims of the complainant's patent, may be declared inoperative and void, and that the defendants be enjoined from exercising any powers purporting to be granted by it.

The order of Judge Dunlop, above referred to, came up in this way: On the application of James G. Wilson for the reissue, an interference was declared between it and a patent issued to I. M. Singer, on which the Commissioner of Patents decided against the application. From this decision an appeal was taken to Judge Dunlop, who reversed the decision of the Commissioner and directed the reissue to be made. An interference was then declared, as above stated, between this application and the patents of Allen B. Wilson, and when this matter came before Judge Dunlop, he decided that this interference was unlawfully declared, and that the Commissioner of Patents must comply with the former order which he had made on the former appeal.

The defendants, on this motion, read affidavits to show the priority of invention of Akins & Felthousen, and that the decisions in favor of the patents of Allen B. Wilson had been given upon erroneous testimony.

The motion is still on, and from its importance will probably take several days.

For complainants, Mr. Stoughton, Mr. Gifford and Mr. Gordon. For defendants, Mr. Brady, Mr. Blatchford and Mr. Seward.

A Mistake of Counsel in Respect to Alien Enemies—Virginians are Citizens of the United States.

SUPERIOR COURT—SPECIAL TERM.

Before Justice Bosworth.

Kirke vs. Hoover.—The plaintiff in this case is a resident of the State of Virginia; and the defendant moved to dismiss the complaint on the ground that the plaintiff was an alien enemy.

BOSWORTH, J., held as follows:

The plaintiff is not an alien enemy, within the common meaning of those words. The Federal Government does not recognize the idea that Virginia is not one of the States composing the United States, and that its citizens are not citizens of the United States.

A citizen of Virginia is entitled to all privileges and immunities of this State which a citizen of any other State can rightfully claim in this State. If under any act of Congress this claim, if prosecuted to judgment, can be confiscated, that furnishes no reason why the action should be dismissed. The fact that the plaintiff is an alien enemy, when it exists, should be pleaded, and not be attempted to be availed of on motion. Motion denied with $7 costs to abide the event.

The Schimmerhorn Divorce Case—Postponed.

SUPREME COURT—CHAMBERS.

Before Justice Barnard.

Florinda B. Schimmerhorn vs. Cornelius P. Schimmerhorn.—This sensation case, which was stated in the TIMES of the 22d inst., and which was to have been heard on the attachment proceedings yesterday, was postponed, upon motion of the plaintiff's attorney, until Wednesday, at 11 o'clock.

Policemen and their Pay—Their Remedy in Case of Non-Payment.

MARINE COURT.

Before Justice McCarthy.

Biglow vs. Metropolitan Police Commissioners.—This was an action brought by the plaintiff as an ex-policeman, to recover back pay—from the 26th August, 1862, to the 10th April, 1863.

The defence was that the plaintiff had been dismissed the force, which the plaintiff admitted, but claimed that the dismissal was illegal.

Motion was made to dismiss the complaint on the ground that the plaintiff's remedy was by mandamus or certiorari, and not by an ordinary action.

It was also urged that the defendants could not be sued as Metropolitan Police Commissioners.

The complaint was dismissed.

N. P. Rogers for plaintiff; A. Oakey Hall for defendants.

A New Way of Doing Business—An Ingenious Contrivance Fails of Success.

SUPREME COURT—CIRCUIT.

Before Justice Hoyt.

J. Edwards Ingersoll vs. Willett, Sheriff, &c., and Gray Brothers.—The plaintiff, a resident of Cleveland, Ohio, where he is a practicing lawyer, sued to recover about two hundred dollars, the value of a bill of goods bought of Ketchum & Co., in this City, attached in September, 1858, on the Erie Railroad boat, under process at the suit of Gray Brothers against Merchant & Ingersoll, formerly a firm in Cleveland. John Ingersoll, of that firm, was a distant relative of the plaintiff, and the plaintiff claimed that in January, 1858, he bought out Merchant & Ingersoll, and made an arrangement with John Ingersoll and George L. Ingersoll that the business should be continued under the name of John Ingersoll & Co.; that the plaintiff furnished the money capital, and, therefore, owned the business, and that he agreed to pay to John and George L. Ingersoll each a salary of $800 per year, and after all expenses of the business were paid, including salaries, and the plaintiff had received 6 per cent. interest on his capital, all the net profits were to be divided equally between John and George L. Ingersoll.

The defendant claimed, first—that if this arrangement was made in good faith it gave an interest to John Ingersoll in the property, which rendered it liable to the attachment; and, second, that the arrangement was in substance only a loan by the plaintiff, and was a mere cover to keep the property from the creditors of John Ingersoll, while he and Geo. L. Ingersoll received all the benefits which could be derived from it.

The Court ruled adversely to the defendant as to the first ground, but submitted the bona fides of the arrangement, with the other evidence, to the jury, as bearing upon the second point claimed by defendant.

The jury rendered a verdict for the defendant.

J. T. Williams for plaintiff; A. J. Vanderpoel for defendant.

United States Circuit Court—APRIL 29.

Before Judge Nelson.

A Grand Jury was summoned for this morning. Seventeen answered to their names. James W. Beekman was sworn as foreman, and the rest were also sworn; but the Judge adjourned the jury until Friday morning, and ordered twelve additional jurors to be summoned for that day.

PATENT FOR RIGGING EXTRA TOPSAIL YARDS.

Ebenezer H. Linnel vs. Lewis H. Walsh et al.—This was an action against the firm of Walsh, Carver & Chase, as owners of the ships Success and Uncle Joe, to recover for the infringment of a patent issued to the plaintiffs in 1857, for an improved method of rigging extra topsail yards on square-rigged vessels.

The defendants failed to appear, and the jury found a verdict for the plaintiff for $185 70, being 10 cents a ton on the tonnage of the vessels.

Blatchford, Seward & Griswold for plaintiff.

Street Improvements.

SUPREME COURT—CHAMBERS.

Before Justice Barnard.

Matter of Ninety-Fourth-street.—This was a motion to confirm the report of the Commissioner of Awards and Assessments in this case, who reported in favor of opening the street from Third-avenue to East River, and from Eighth-avenue to Hudson River.

The motion was opposed on the ground that the improvement was in opposition to the wishes of the property owners and holders interested. Decision was reserved.

Legal Notice.

SUPREME COURT.

In consequence of Thursday being a National Fast Day, the Court stands adjourned to Friday, May 1, at 10 o'clock A. M. All motions and orders returnable on Thursday, will stand adjourned to May 1, at 10 A. M. By order of the Court.

Decisions.

SUPERIOR COURT—SPECIAL TERM.

Before Justice Bosworth.

Vanderpoel vs. Smith, &c.—The draft order submitted by plaintiff has been amended, and as amended settled.

Warrin vs. Owen.—The Code, sec. 335, declares what an undertaking on appeal must contain to operate as a stay of proceedings. The one filed and served in this case omits the words "or dismissed." The words "or dismissed" were inserted in this section by amendment, with a view, probably, to supply a defect made apparent by the decision in Drummond. vs. Harson, 4 Kem. 60; without these words in the undertaking, it is not a stay. Motion denied, with $7 costs.

Goldberg vs. Schimkowitz and Wife, Grany and Wife, and Levy.—The order will be that Mr. Schimkowitz, his wife and Mrs. Grany may be discharged, on Mr. Schimkowitz's undertaking in the sum of $50, as bail for the three; and Levy may be discharged on giving bail in the sum of $1,000, and that the time to put in such bail may be extended to enable him to move anew, to vacate the order of arrest absolutely. $10 costs of this motion is given to the party, plaintiff or defendants, who shall prevail in the action.

WEDNESDAY, April 29—P. M.

The speculative temper of the Stock Exchange is higher this afternoon than at any time since the month of February. The Railway Share list attracts most attention, the demand being distributed throughout the range of the New-York and Western Roads. Among the former Harlem and Erie are the strongest, and of the latter, Pittsburgh and Michigan Southern attract the heaviest buying. The business in Harlem is almost equal to the total of the day or two succeeding the passage of the City Ordinance for a Broadway extension. The price to-day is the very highest registered since the year 1847; the next highest being in the Summer of 1852. Michigan Southern went ahead of the top price on the late January speculation, and Cleveland and Pittsburgh sold at figures not previously realized since 1855. Harlem Preferred sold as high as 94¼ ⅌ cent. The shares of the old Canton Land Company, of Baltimore, suddenly advanced to 32 ⅌ cent. Pacific Mail Shares sold 100 ⅌ cent. cash. The Railway Mortgages are generally higher. Some of the Western descriptions in large demand. The Mississippi and Missouri first mortgage Land Grant sold to the extent of $20,000 at 60 ⅌ cent., and Wabash seconds $35,000 at 95 ⅌ cent. Hudson thirds brought 118 ⅌ cent., and Cleveland and Pittsburgh fourths 87½ ⅌ cent.

At 4 o'clock, the general market was firm in prices and buoyant in demand. The prices left off about as follows, as compared with Tuesday night. The excitement on the Share list has diverted attention from the speculation in Gold Coin, which leaves off tame at 150@150¼ ⅌ cent. Among the Western shares there is a strong demand for Fort Wayne and Chicago, partly in sympathy with the movement in Cleveland and Pittsburgh. The advance this week is 5 ⅌ cent.:

Several changes and new partnerships among the Stock Exchange Brokers are announced for the 1st of May. Mr. JAMES M. HARTSHORNE, for three years past the active junior partner of Messrs. LOCKWOOD & Co., withdraws from the firm to establish a new house with his brother, Mr. R. B. HARTSHORNE, at No. 57 Exchange-place, under the style of J. M. HARTSHORNE & BROTHER. Messrs. DAVID GROESBECK & Co., No. 15 William-street, admit Mr. DANIEL MORRELL and Mr. W. W. EVERETT as junior partners. Mr. H. E. HOSFORD establishes a Stock Exchange Office rear of No. 25 William-street, near the entrance to the Stock Exchange Board. Mr. L. J. VAN BOSKERCK, of QUICK & VAN BOSKERCK, goes into the house of LOCKWOOD & Co., and Mr. T. W. QUICK continues the old business. We understand that other changes are in contemplation for the 1st of May, particulars of which will appear on Saturday or Monday.

The Chicago and Alton Railroad Company will temporarily transact their business in the rear room of G. S. ROBBINS & SONS' office, at which place they will pay the interest due May 1 on their Preferred First Mortgage Sinking Fund Bonds.

To-morrow being the National Fast, no report of the markets will appear in our next paper. Business will be so generally suspended, in all departments, as to preclude quotations.

THE NATIONAL FAST.

Proclamation by the President of the United States.

Whereas, The Senate of the United States, devoutly recognizing the Supreme authority and just Government of Almighty God, in all the affairs of men and nations, has, by a resolution, requested the President to designate and set apart a day for National prayer and humiliation; and,

Whereas, It is the duty of nations, as well as of men, to own their dependence upon the overruling power of God, to confess their sins and transgressions, in humble sorrow, yet with assured hope that genuine repentance will lead to mercy and pardon, and to recognize the sublime truths announced in the Holy Scriptures and proven by all history, that those nations only are blessed whose God is the Lord:

And, inasmuch as we know that, by His Divine law, nations, like individuals, are subjected to punishments and chastisements in this world, may we not justly fear that the awful calamity of civil war, which now desolates the land, may be but a punishment inflicted upon us for our presumptuous sins, to the needful end of our national reformation as a whole people? We have been the recipients of the choicest bounties of Heaven. We have been preserved, these many years, in peace and prosperity. We have grown in numbers, wealth and power as no other nation has ever grown. But we have forgotten God. We have forgotten the gracious hand which preserved us in peace, and multiplied and enriched and strengthened us; and we have vainly imagined, in the deceitfulness of our hearts, that all these blessings were produced by some superior wisdom and virtue of our own. Intoxicated with unbroken success, we have become too self-sufficient to feel the necessity of redeeming and preserving grace, too proud to pray to the God that made us!

It behooves us, then, to humble ourselves before the offended Power, to confess our national sins, and to pray for clemency and forgiveness.

Now, therefore, in compliance with the request, and fully concurring in the views of the Senate, I do, by this my Proclamation, designate and set apart THURSDAY, THE THIRTIETH DAY OF APRIL, 1863, as a day of national humiliation, fast and prayer. And I do hereby request all the people to abstain from their ordinary secular pursuits, and to unite at their several places of public worship and their respective homes, in keeping the day holy to the Lord, and devoted to the humble discharge of the religious duties proper to that solemn occasion.

All this being done in sincerity and truth, let us then rest humbly in the hope, authorized by the Divine teachings, that the united cry of the Nation will be heard on high, and answered with blessings, no less than the pardon of our national sins, and the restoration of our now divided and suffering country to its former happy condition of unity and peace.

In witness whereof, I have hereunto set my hand, and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.

Done at the City of Washington, this thirtieth day of March, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight [L. S.] hundred and sixty-three, and of the Independence of the United States the eighty-seventh.

By the President: ABRAHAM LINCOLN.
WILLIAM H. SEWARD, Secretary of State.

The Governor's Proclamation.

The President of the United States having set apart the last Thursday of April as a day of national prayer, fasting and humiliation, I, HORATIO SEYMOUR, Governor of the State of New-York, do recommend that the day be observed throughout the State with suitable religious solemnities.

Humbly acknowledging the manifold offences of our ruler and people, let us humiliate ourselves before Almighty God, and fervently pray that our sins may be forgiven. Acknowledging our dependence upon His powers and mercy, let us put away pride and ingratitude, malice and uncharitableness, and implore Him to deliver our land from seditious fury, conspiracy and rebellion, and to restore the blessings of peace, concord and union to the several States of our distracted and afflicted country.

In witness whereof I have hereunto affixed the privy seal of the State, at the City of Albany, the twenty-seventh day of April, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and sixty-three.

HORATIO SEYMOUR.
By the Governor, R. B. MILLER, Jr., Private Secretary

The Mayor's Proclamation.

Whereas, The President of the United States, in compliance with a resolution of the Senate, has issued his proclamation, setting apart Thursday, the 30th day of April, 1863, as a day of national humiliation, fasting and prayer, and

Whereas, The scourge of civil war which is now desolating our country and changing many of its happy homes into abodes of sorrow, renders such solemn service peculiarly appropriate at the present time.

Now, therefore, in official recognition of said proclamation, and its just and timely admonitions to the nation, I do hereby request that all the public offices in this City be closed on that day, and that the people, refraining from all secular pursuits, devote themselves with humble and contrite spirits to the religious duties suitable to the occasion.

Given under my hand and the seal of the Mayoralty, at the City Hall, in the City of New-York, this twenty-seventh day of April, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and sixty-three.

GEORGE OPDYKE, Mayor.

Proclamation of the Mayor of Brooklyn.

MAYOR'S OFFICE, Tuesday, April 28, 1863.

Thursday, the 30th day of April, 1863, having been set apart by the President of the United States, in compliance with a resolution of the Senate, as a day of national humiliation, fasting and prayer, in accordance therewith, I do hereby direct that the various public offices of the city be closed on that day; and I respectfully recommend, also, that our citizens on that day refrain, as far as may be, from the pursuit of their ordinary business avocations. The suffering and misery and humiliation which, during the past two years, have fallen upon us as a nation, would seem to render an earnest and universal appeal to the Divine mercy from us, as a people, especially a duty at this time: and I doubt not that the recommendation of the President will be appropriately responded to by our citizens.

MARTIN KALBFLEISCH, Mayor.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

THE REBELLION.

Advices one day later from New-Orleans by the steamship Empire City, are important. News had reached the city that Gen. BANKS was at Opelousas, having taken possession of the place and all rebel property there, and opened communication with Admiral FARRAGUT above Port Hudson. It was also believed that a portion of his forces had reached Alexandria, on the Red River, where were a large number of steamers and other rebel property of immense value. Gen. BANKS had sent to New-Orleans for all the National flags that could be procured—probably to be used in covering the property. A large number of prisoners had been captured, and when the steamer left they were arriving at New-Orleans at the rate of 500 per day.

Intelligence reaches us by way of Memphis and Cairo that our forces operating in Northwest Alabama under Gen. DODGE, have succeeded in capturing Tuscumbia, after a pretty sharp fight.

We have by the Arago, which arrived at this port yesterday, advices from Port Royal, S. C., to the afternoon of the 26th inst. It appears to be the impression there that the movement upon Charleston has not been abandoned, the main body of Gen. HUNTER'S army being still at North Edisto and Stono Inlets, and Kiawah, Cole's and Folly Islands being occupied. Reinforcements and supplies were also going forward from Port Royal, and the iron-clads had been thoroughly repaired, and strengthened where needed. Five of the Monitors were at the North Edisto and two at Port Royal. The Ironsides was off Charleston blockading.

MARMADUKE'S rebels, in their retreat from Cape Girardeau, Mo, appear to have been rather roughly handled. The advance guard was surprised on Sunday night, three miles west of Jackson, and the whole number were either killed, wounded or captured. All the horses, guns, camp equipage and several thousand dollars' worth of plunder were secured. At last accounts Gens. MCNIEL and VANDEVER, having joined forces, were in close pursuit of the main body of rebels.

The Nashville Union, of Sunday last, states that the rush of citizens desiring to take the oath of allegiance, in compliance with Gen. MITCHELL'S recent order, is so great that the number of clerks delegated to attend to that duty has been increased from four to twelve. It says, further, that in a day or two an order will be issued for those who decline to take either the oath of allegiance or the parole of honor, to come forward and enroll their names, that they may be sent beyond the Federal lines. The authorities are in earnest, and will see that the general order is strictly enforced.

An arrival from Newbern, N. C., brings advices to the 26th. Everything was quiet again.

The bark Lysander, which arrived at Boston yesterday, reports having been spoken by a privateer, which ordered her to heave to, and send a boat on board, but her commander armed his crew with muskets, and refused, when the privateer hauled off. She is supposed to have been the bark Lapwing, lately captured and armed by the Florida.

The Washington correspondent of the Baltimore Sun writes as follows: "In the absence of facts, rumors have never been more prevalent than at the present moment in regard to matters concerning the Cabinet and the field. All rumors of changes in high army commands are, as I believe, entirely without foundation."

FROM EUROPE.

The steamship New-York, from Southampton on the 15th inst., and the Edinburgh, from Liverpool on the 15th and Queenstown on the 16th, arrived at this port yesterday, with European advices four days later. By these arrivals we receive a full explanation of the manner in which the new rebel pirate Japan, or Virginia, received on board her supplies of provisions and munitions of war previous to her departure on her mission of plunder. The steamer Alar, which landed some men from the Japan at Plymouth, as announced by the Persia, it appears shipped a quantity of "provisions," etc., and a number of seamen at Folkestone. She was then directed to steer toward a certain part of the coast of France, and after some delay the Japan hove in sight, when the "provisions," among which were guns, arms and ammunition, were transhipped. The Japan then proceeded westward. She is said to be of great strength, and capable of a high rate of speed. She carries ten guns, in addition to two of WHITWORTH'S 68-pounders on pivots. The British Government was still engaged in making inquiries into the case of the Alexandra. An engraver at Sheffield and one of his workmen had been arrested on a charge of forging American notes, known as "greenbacks." Large numbers of these notes, varying in value from $5 to $10, are said to have been forged in Sheffield and sent thence to New-York. The Polish revolution appears to be daily gaining strength. The offer of amnesty made by the Czar had been peremptorily rejected. Several successes of the revolutionists are reported. The Liverpool cotton market was firmer, with a slight advance. Breadstuffs and Provisions were dull. Consols 92⅞@92⅞ for money.

GENERAL NEWS.

Two hundred and thirty-seven lives were lost by the wreck of the Anglo Saxon. All the mails were also lost.

By way of San Francisco, we have advices from the City of Mexico to the 8th inst., and from Puebla to the 6th. The French had kept up a constant bombardment since the 31st, and their fire is said to have destroyed the convent of San Augustin and six blocks of buildings, but they had made no special progress toward occupying the city. They had apparently made no more attempts to assault since the failure on the 27th ult.

Further news from Mexico is received by way of Havana, brought by the steamship Sheldrake, which arrived at this port last night. The advices from Puebla are to the 9th inst., while those by way of San Francisco are only to the 6th. So far as the dates are coincident, however, it will be seen that the two accounts differ very much regarding the progress made by the French in the reduction of the city. According to the French account, on the 5th inst., they had got possession of about a third part of the city, and by the 9th they had penetrated to the main plaza, and seized the Cathedral. They acknowledge, however, that they have had to do some very hard fighting.

The reception of the Tenth regiment New-York Volunteers, Col. BENDIX, formerly known as MCCHESNEY'S Zouaves, was quite cordial yesterday. The Thirty-seventh regiment turned out with full ranks to receive them, and the popular welcome was enthusiastic and cordial. The Zouaves have done nobly, and do not seem at all tired of the war.

The Forest Queen is reported to have been more severely injured in running the batteries at Vicksburgh than was at first stated. After being disabled by a shot through her steam-drum, the boat was unable to proceed, and the enemy put one or two balls through the hull, which caused it to sink. Before going down, the gunboat Tuscumbia towed the Queen to a shallow place, and it is thought she can be easily raised.

A Naval General Court-martial, composed of the following distinguished members: Commander F. ENGLE, President; Commander CHAS. LOWNDES, Commander JAMES L. LARDNER, Capt. F. B. ELLISON and Commander E. C. CARPENDER, is now in session at the Philadelphia Navy-yard. The following curious question is to come before it for consideration: Thirteen men from the crew of the Mercedita left that vessel after her capture by the ram, but shortly afterward voluntarily returned to their ship, and continued with her until she arrived at Philadelphia, when charges were preferred against them, upon which charges they are now being tried. It is contended by their counsel that, as paroled prisoners, they are not amenable to Court-martial.

Coroner COLLIN was yesterday notified to hold an ante-mortem examination in the case of FREDERICK SMITH, who is now lying in a dangerous condition at No. 321 Fifth-street, from the effects of injuries received by being stabbed with a knife in the hands of FRANK WEIGEL. The physicians say there are no hopes of the injured man's recovery.

The injunction issued by Justice BARBOUR, of the Superior Court, to restrain the progress of the work on the Broadway Railroad by the Harlem Railroad Company, was an absolute and permanent injunction, and not a temporary one, as has been supposed. It is, therefore, not returnable before any Court, and will not be argued except upon notice of motion to dissolve. No such notice has been served upon counsel for the plaintiffs in the action—A. R. LAWRENCE, Esq., Jr., and it is not known that at present such a motion is contemplated.

The Stock speculation continues to advance, and has become quite general on the Share list. The business yesterday was large, at higher prices. The changes in Gold Coin are less important, the price leaving off 150½ ℔ cent. The public deposited over three millions with the Treasury, of which $1,316,000 was for the new Stock of 1882; $1,581,000 on 5 ℔ cent. interest, and the remainder for Customs. Money, easy to the Brokers at 4@5 ℔ cent.; Exchange, 165 ℔ cent.

Less activity was discernible yesterday in Breadstuffs, Groceries, Oils and Cotton, though any actual changes in prices were favorable to buyers. The demand for the principal kinds of provisions was fair, but at drooping rates. Whisky was in good request at buoyant prices. Tallow was plenty and heavy. Moderate sales of Fruit and Hops were reported. Fish, Ingot Copper and Adamantine Candles were more sought after. Freights were depressed, with 504 vessels of all classes in port.

The National Fast.

The day of National Fast, appointed by the President, in conformity with the request of the Senate, will be sincerely observed throughout the loyal States. We doubt whether there has ever been a time in the history of the war when there was a more general sense of dependence upon Providence. All things denote that we are near the very crisis of the struggle; and there is a disposition in all true men to turn for help and guidance to the Power Supreme. Nothing can be more just and needful than that on the eve of commencing new and, as we trust, decisive movements, we should pause to invoke the Divine favor, without which all efforts are vain.

There is a providence in national affairs none the less inevitable though we may not scan and fix its precise workings. The most hardened politicians are obliged to recognize it. One of the sayings imputed to BONAPARTE is, "I have always observed that Providence is on the side of the strongest battalions." We do not believe he ever used any such language. It is inconsistent with the sense of Fatalism, which, it is known, always possessed him. With all the resources at his command, and his almost superhuman energies, he could never shake off the feeling that there was something above him, which dealt with him, controlled him, disposed of him. Read in Las Casas what he said in St. Helena of his Russian overthrow: "My success depended upon a mere trifle. I defeated armies but I could not conquer the flames, the frost, stupefaction and death! I was forced to yield to Fate." And again of Waterloo: "All was fatal in that engagement; it even assumed the appearance of absurdity; I ought to have gained the victory. Never had any of my battles presented less doubt to my mind; nor can I now account for what happened. * * * Such is the power of fatality! In the course of three days, I three times saw the destiny of France and of Europe escape from my grasp." The mere fact that this matchless commander, at the head of his matchless armies, successively won and lost almost every country on Continental Europe—Italy, Germany, Poland, Portugal, Spain and France,—and finally died a forlorn exile, is of itself enough to substantiate that Providence is not always on the side of the strongest battalions. Providence never more asserts its supremacy than in war. Disastrous consequences so often flow from mistakes so slight that in every age and every nation the uncertainty of war has become proverbial. The Providence which presides over the destinies of nations, must particularly direct the issues of war, for nothing more directly bears upon national destinies. To deny such Providence would be to deify blind chance or brute force, and palsy every human effort for truth and the right. Without a divinity to "shape our ends," the designs of man would be as bubbles on a troubled ocean.

This day will be improved not only for invoking the blessings of Heaven on our arms, but for again pressing home upon the public conscience our past delinquencies and future duties. No thoughtful man can gainsay that demoralization in our public affairs has increased at a fearful rate within these latter years, and that some terrible shock like the present was needed to arrest the Government in its downward path. It is Heaven's merciful discipline toward the nation it desires to preserve. It is a satisfaction to know that the body of the people have not been slow to recognize this. There is a general feeling that if the nation shall get through its present straits, it will enter upon a purer and grander career—that we shall realize, as we never have before, the full force of the great truth that "eternal vigilance is the price of liberty"—that our patriotism will be elevated, our false pride corrected, our materialism purged. What we need is to have this indefinite hope of a better time coming reduced to a solid determination that, with God's help, it shall come. And this day is specially fitted to promote just that practical purpose. Its prayers, as well as its lessons, should bring home to every man his personal obligations to his country. They can avail little with Heaven, unless they also fortify his spirit and quicken his energies; for Heaven works only through means and instrumentalities. We know that our cause is righteous. Since time began, Providence never deserted a righteous cause, if its defenders were worthy. This day's influence should do something toward making us less unworthy.

REBEL FAITH IN THE UNION.—The Georgia Legislature has passed a bill making it penal to buy, sell, circulate or receive any note, bill or draft of the United States. It has long been known that the Secessionists have much stronger confidence in the solvency and integrity of the United States Government than of their boasted Confederacy. This has been evidenced by their distrust of Confederate notes, and their anxiety to get hold of United States "greenbacks." There has been no time since the war began when United States legal-tender notes were not current in Richmond, or anywhere in the South, at a premium over the Confederate currency.

Proof of this remarkable financial phenomenon is patent in the action of the Georgia Legislature. Notwithstanding the universal avowal of the Secessionists that the "old Government" is broken to pieces—that it is everlastingly impoverished by the secession of the South—that the war debt is already so stupendous as to bankrupt it everlastingly—notwithstanding all this, announced by authority and professedly believed by all rebels—the eagerness to get hold of United States currency is so great as to be a scandal and a dangerous political evil, that needs the stringency of penal law to prohibit it in the State of Georgia. Candid minds can draw but one inference, and that a damaging one to the pretensions of the Confederacy.

It is sufficient to mark the striking contrast between public opinion North and South, on the hopefulness of the two Governments, to note the fact that no law is needed here to prevent the receiving and paying out of Confederate notes. If there were a penalty suggested for one who should be desirous of establishing a value in Confederate bills, it would doubtless be that he should be sent to the madhouse.

Gen. Hooker's Movements—Precautions in Advance.

If we are rightly informed, our army on the Potomac is once more on the move, and we may expect, within the next few days, a good deal of successful or unsuccessful fighting. We entertain confidence in Gen. HOOKER; first of all, because he has shown himself, in a subordinate position, to be a man of ability; and, secondly, because he has that confidence in himself without which ability is useless. We are satisfied that he will fight and march with the expectation of winning uppermost in his mind, and will not pass the most momentous hours of great conflicts in making preparations for disastrous retreat. But we do most earnestly, for the sake of the nation as well as for his, beg of politicians and strategists, of all sects and parties, to let him severely alone for the next half year at least. If he achieves a great military reputation inside that period, he will have accomplished a very extraordinary feat, but there is not the smallest probability that one week less than that time will suffice for any such purpose.

Consequently, even if he should win a battle within the month of May, it will still be premature to announce that the "back of the rebellion is broken," and it will be in the highest degree rash to pronounce him either a young or a middle-aged Napoleon. He has, one would say, more of the characteristics of the original NAPOLEON, than MCCLELLAN, for he is ardent, eager and impetuous, while MCCLELLAN was a close copy of FABIUS or WURMSER, but then the singular blunders committed by our enlightened public, the last time it bestowed this title, should, we think, teach us all caution in the future. Men do not win immortality even here, where we live so fast, either in hall or camp, in thirty days. It is the successful conduct of a campaign, not the winning of one or two battles, which stamps an officer as a great general. Nor is it the planning of campaigns which entitle generals to a nation's gratitude and applause. The world is full of people who can plan campaigns, and overwhelm and annihilate the enemy on paper, "Magnificent conceptions," and "splendid programmes," certain to be "crowned with success," are veritable drugs in every country in time of war. Almost everybody knows how to circumvent and surround the foe the minute war is declared, and almost everybody is so kind as to communicate his strategic ideas to the public. And we are bound to add that, as far as this goes, one man's plan on paper is about as good as another's. Those that are conceived by Cabinets, and Ministers of War, and editors, are about as valuable as those of officers eager for service. The history of war reveals the painful truth in every chapter, however, that nobody's plans are practically worth anything except those of a man who is capable of executing them; and whether he is or not can never be known till he tries. So, whether Gen. HOOKER'S programme be good or bad, we shall not know till he has either carried it out or failed.

Should he fail, we hope the nation has by this time acquired sense enough to dismiss him to obscurity, without wrangling for half a year over the "ifs," with which his friends are sure to seek to cover him. No unsuccessful General the world has ever seen, has acknowledged that he failed because he was incompetent. There is always somebody who does not come up at the right time, or some road or swamp of whose existence he was not aware, or some order which miscarries, or some mud which is too deep, or some Quartermaster who does not furnish shoes. These things either do not happen to great leaders, or if they do happen, make no difference. They are part of the fortune of war, like bullets, or fevers and mines. What, then, is the use of our going over the old story? Everybody who has read the version of any great battle, or great campaign, written by the beaten side, is perfectly familiar with it. If any more of our Generals, with the means which the nation and the Government are able to furnish him, can accomplish nothing against the enemy, we hope we are now sufficiently clothed in our right mind to let the man either be stripped of his epaulettes, or descend to a more suitable position.

If we win a battle in the month of May, it will doubtless furnish strong reason for believing that we have at last got the right man in the right place, but it will not prove it. The whole campaign will prove it, and nothing less. And the public may rely on it that it will take a whole campaign, and perhaps two, to reduce the South to subjection. Nothing can be more inconvenient, and nothing can be more ridiculous, therefore, than to crown Generals with laurels, and dub them saviors of the nation, and worthy of its highest civil honors, in the month of May, and then have them uneasily "changing their base," and proposing to burn their baggage in order to save themselves from destruction in the month of July. We are far past the happy time when all that we needed in a President was that he should be unknown, or harmless and good-natured. Our great public rewards must be, henceforward, won in the old-fashioned way, by hard work, by brilliant achievements, by unquestioned ability and victorious and undisputed success. So that common policy, as well as justice, demands that Gen. HOOKER should have a fair field and no favor; that all factions should keep their hands off of him, and let him do his duty. One of them cannot adopt him as its champion without setting the others to bark at him; and no man can do his work well with two packs of this kind barking mingled applause and censure at his heels.

Lessons of the War.

If this war were remarkable for nothing else, it would be made ever memorable by the severity with which it is testing the price and value of a vast number of doctrines and beliefs which were held at its breaking out by a large and influential portion of the Christian world. With some of the delusions which it has exploded, our readers are very familiar. We were all of us more or less satisfied, when it began, that Cotton occupied such a place in the world that there was no baseness or violence of which France and England, at least, would not be guilty in order to procure it. We thought the South so demoralized by the habit of bullying and of idling, as to be incapable of organized and persevering effort. We thought self-interest so powerful in determining men's course of action, as to make a combined attempt on the part of any large body of its citizens to overthrow the Union an idle dream. We were so impressed by the skil and wisdom displayed in the construction of the Constitution, that we had ceased to attach much importance to the character of the men who were to administer it. We were perfectly certain that the mere fact that every able-bodied man nominally belonged to the militia of the United States, placed the Republic in possession of an army 2,000,000 strong, and ready for immediate action.

What havoc has been made of all these pleasing fancies during the last two years we all know. We certainly are on every one of these points very much wiser men than we were, and it is well, even though

> "In our wisdom there is woe, and in our knowledge care."

But there is one other point on which our awakening has been more than usually painful. It is impossible for any one who has watched the expressions of opinion elicited in Europe by the war, to avoid the unpleasant conviction that the sentiments of a large portion of the educated, cultivated classes, with regard not simply to popular government—for this is, after all, comparatively but a small matter—but with regard to common human rights, have undergone great modification. In England, as well as in France, not only do we perceive a decided retrogression from the opinions of twenty years ago, with regard to the extent to which all classes of the population should be permitted to share in the work of government, but with regard to the social position and social rights of the lowest. Those who are familiar with the ordinary current of thought in Europe, not only previous to 1830, but to 1848, may remember that it was but a very small and very stupid clique either in France or England, who refused to believe in the wisdom of that species of electoral reform which consisted in the extension of the suffrage, and who repudiated all faith in what was called "progress;" or, in other words, in the gradual approach of the workers to such a point of intelligence and self-restraint as to render them fit to play a leading part in the administration of public affairs. And there were none at all who, whatever they might think of political liberty, doubted the value and the sacredness of personal liberty. Even those who scoffed at democracy were loud as anybody in asserting the right of the very meanest to pursue happiness in his own way, to choose his own calling, enjoy his own wages, and regulate his exertions by the strength or direction of his desires.

On both of these points there is a very decided change now perceptible, not simply among the aristocracy of birth and rank, but among the aristocracy of the counting-house. The shop has allied itself with the sword for the vilification of liberty. The English Whigs are at this moment as full of scorn for popular government, as ashamed of any efforts for the extension of the franchise, as the Tories ever were, or could be supposed to be. The "Reform movement" has died of sheer inanition. There is hardly a newspaper or magazine that is not as full of scorn for things "popular" as the Quarterly, in its palmiest days. Pure and close oligarchy is daily extolled as the very perfection of government. Even the Illustrated News pronounces a "reunion" of "forty or fifty" noblemen and gentlemen in Pall-mall, as a vastly better instrument for the decision of great questions, than any amount of popular agitation. And this style of talking has become so much the fashion, that there is not a little club in the city which is not as much addicted to it, just now, as the best born lounger of the West End.

All this, however, is comprehensible. We cannot stop here to inquire to what it is to be attributed,—whether, as they say, to the spectacle of our disasters and disorders, or, as we think, to the terrible and carefully fostered tendency to the accumulation of capital in great masses, by which the history of English commerce and manufactures has for the last thirty or forty years been marked. What is most deplorable about it is, that the perversion has gone deeper down than merely political ideas, and has evidently shaken the reverence of the middle as well as upper classes for personal liberty itself. The getting of money has gradually assumed such importance, both social and political, that they begin to look at the laborer's freedom with hungry eyes, and are every day giving fresh evidences of sympathy with the more outrageous Southern theories about his condition. We begin to hear ominous mutterings about the absence of all essential difference between working for a livelihood and working to avoid the lash. RUSKIN, the artist, the moralist, the poet, the humanitarian, has absolutely gravely propounded this theory within the last three weeks; has formally commended Slavery as an old and respectable institution—as simply one of the means by which the wise and learned occupy their rightful position of ruling over the ignorant and foolish; and he gets Fraser's Magazine to publish his maunderings. The Times and Saturday Review have preceded him in the same trick, though with less distinctness.

We will not say that all this only renders our duty the plainer, and our cause the more sound. There are, we hope, few amongst us who will not fight on with all the greater ardor on feeling that the cause of the Union and of human liberty everywhere are one. If anything were wanting to ennoble this struggle, it would be the base desertion by European liberals of the principles which they have for a century defended, and the commission to our hands alone of the sacred trust of maintaining the inherent dignity of humanity, in its lowest and least imposing forms. We were the first nation that ever rose in arms to assert it, and we must be the last to abandon the field.

THE LAW OF NEUTRALITY.

The English Doctrine of the Rights of Neutrals

NEW-YORK, Friday, April 24, 1863.

To the Editor of the New-York Times:

The article on "Limits of English Neutrality," published in this morning's paper, is abstractly correct; but in its application to the special circumstances of the outfit and departure of the Florida and Alabama, it seems to me to be incorrect. The rule of international law is, as stated by you, and as claimed by the English Solicitor-General, that the selling by private persons to a belligerent of munitions of war, and even perhaps, (though this is disputed by PHILLIMORE,) of armed ships, does not give any just cause of complaint by other belligerents against the neutral nation. This is because the selling a ship is a commercial adventure. Thus, according to the obiter dictum of Judge STORY, in the Santissima Trinidad case, (7 Wheat.) which was cited by Sir ROUNDELL PALMER the other day in Parliament, it might not, under the law of nations, be unlawful for the LAIRDS to send an armed ship to Charleston in search of a market. That would be a commercial venture, of which no one could complain, although the vessel would be liable to capture and confiscation by us. But in what particular can the cases of the Florida and Alabama be likened to commercial ventures? They were sold as much as they could be, before they left Liverpool, and were probably delivered to Confederate agents there; or, if not, they were sent to Nassau and Terceira, respectively, for delivery, and not for sale. The Alabama, without attempting to enter a Confederate port, started on her voyage of destruction, with a fighting crew enlisted in Liverpool; with the armament and equipment obtained there, and the additions obtained at Terceira from the Aggrippina, her tender ship which left England about the same time, bringing Capt. SEMMES and some additional munitions of war. Now, it is, by the laws of nations, good cause of complaint between nations, that a neutral nation permits hostile ships, armaments or expeditions to leave its shores, for the purpose of inflicting damage on one belligerent, unless (as is claimed by some writers) it grants the same privilege to the other belligerent. But England does not grant permission to make hostile outfits in her ports to anybody; on the contrary, she expressly forbids it by her foreign enlistment act; and consequently, when she permits one belligerent to disregard her prohibition, she commits an offence, under the laws of nations, against the other belligerent, who respects her prohibition.

England is estopped, too, from denying this to be international law. In 1794, before we had any neutrality act, she demanded from us compensation for all losses suffered in her commerce by French privateers, built in or which augmented their armaments or force in our forts; the claim was expressly conceded by the Cabinet of that day as a just claim under the law of nations; and there was put into the 7th article of the treaty of that year the following:

> "And whereas certain merchants and others, His Majesty's subjects, complain that in the course of the war they have sustained loss and damage by reason of the capture of their vessels and merchandise, taken within the limits and jurisdiction of the States, and brought into the ports of the same, or taken by vessels originally armed in the ports of the said States, it is agreed that, in all cases where restitution shall not have been made agreeably to the tenor of the letter from Mr. JEFFERSON to Mr. HAMMOND, of Sept. 5, 1793, the complaints of the parties shall be referred to the Commissioners hereby appointed," &c., &c.

The special object of the Solicitor-General appears to have been to confound the questions of contraband commercial ventures, which do not inculpate the nation of the contraband trader, with the question of hostile outfits, which do, if knowingly permitted, involve the sovereign of the person engaged in the hostile enterprise.

The difference between a commercial venture and a hostile enterprise is well illustrated by the following language of Chief-Justice MARSHALL, in the Gran Para, (7 Wheaton, 486.) That case shows also, just what importance is to be given to the fact, that the Florida, which perfected her armament at Nassau, ran the blockade, and reached Mobile before committing any depredations.

> "That the Irresistible was purchased, and that she sailed out of the port of Baltimore, for the purpose of being employed as a cruiser against a nation with whom the United States were at peace, is too clear for controversy; that the arms and ammunition were cleared out as cargo cannot vary the case; nor is it thought to be material that the men were enlisted in form as for a common mercantile voyage. There is nothing resembling a commercial adventure in any part of the transaction. The vessel was constructed for war, and not for commerce. There was no cargo on board but what was adapted to the purposes of war. The crew was too numerous for a merchantman, and was sufficient for a privateer. These circumstances demonstrate the intent with which the Irresistible sailed out of the port of Baltimore; but she was not commissioned as a privateer nor did she attempt to act as one until she reached the River La Plata, when a commission was obtained, and the crew reinlisted. This Court has never decided that the offence adheres to the vessel, whatever changes may have taken place, and cannot be deposited at the termination of the cruise, in preparing for which it was committed; and as the Irresistible made no prize on her passage from Baltimore to the River Plata, it is contended that her offence was deposited there, and that the Court cannot connect her subsequent cruise with the transactions of Baltimore. If this were to be admitted in such a case as this, the laws for the preservation of our neutrality would be completely eluded, so far as this enforcement depends on the restitution of prizes made in violation of them. Vessels completely fitted in our ports for military operations need only sail to a belligerent port, and there, after obtaining a commission, go through the ceremony of discharging and reënlisting their crew, to become perfectly legitimate cruisers, purified from every taint contracted at the place where all their real force and capacity for annoyance was acquired. This would, indeed, be a fraudulent neutrality, disgraceful to our own Government, and of which no nation would be the dupe. It is impossible for a moment to disguise the facts, that the arms and ammunition taken on board the Irresistible at Baltimore were taken for the purpose of being used on a cruise, and that the men there enlisted, though engaged in form as for a commercial voyage, were not so engaged in fact. There was no commercial voyage, and no individual of the crew could believe that there was one. Although there might be no express stipulation to serve on board the Irresistible after her reaching the La Plata and obtaining a commission, it must be completely understood that such was to be the fact. For what other purpose could they have undertaken this voyage? Everything they saw, everything that was done, spoke a language too plain to be misunderstood."

The reader must easily see the application of these doctrines in the law of prize to the case of the Florida; and from them he will also see the difference between commerce and hostility by a neutral.

Our complaint against England is not for permitting her citizens to sell ships-of-war to the Confederates, but it is for permitting the creation of hostile armaments, the enlistment of hostile troops, and the setting on foot of hostile expeditions within her jurisdiction.

NEW-YORK WEEKLY TIMES.

The NEW-YORK WEEKLY TIMES is published this morning, and may be had at the counter of the publication office, in wrappers, ready for mailing.

In addition to the latest intelligence by telegraph up to the moment of going to press, there will be found in the current number full details of all military movements in the different departments, from the pens of our special correspondents. Also, all official orders, reports and documents, and the latest and fullest Washington news. European news, with graphic letters from our correspondents in London and Paris, giving the tone of public feeling abroad, is made a special and permanent feature. In addition to Editorials on all the current topics of the day, the WEEKLY TIMES has a page of carefully prepared commercial matter, giving the latest financial news and market reports; items of agriculture and domestic interest, compiled from sources many of which are otherwise inaccessible to the American reader; and marriages and deaths of the week.

The "WEEKLY RECORD," or news summary—being a careful synopsis and digest of the news of the day, both rebellion and general—is alone worth double the subscription price to the paper, as it preserves in a condensed and conveniently classified form all news of interest, and must prove valuable as a record to all time.

Costiveness.—No person can feel well while a costive habit of body prevails, and no one can expect to enjoy health permanently who permits it, or it is contrary to the economy of the system, and gives rise to a goodly proportion of the ills which afflict the human race. To neglect it, therefore, is to insure ill health of greater or less duration; yet, in attempting its removal, discrimination with regard to the remedies to be used is requisite. Violent purgatives temporarily remove obstructions, weaken the bowels, and reduce the strength of the patient, and are followed usually by greater constipation, rendering another and another dose necessary, until even the strongest purgatives lose their effect, and the patient's condition becomes deplorable. What is required is a gentle purgative—one having some action on the liver, and one that can be taken daily without impairing the strength of the patient, or injury to the system, until the tendency to constipation is removed. But few remedies have been found to meet these requirements, and of these few probably none have been so successful, as demonstrated by many years' use, as Dr. D. JAYNE'S SANATIVE PILLS. They are usually taken every night at bedtime, causing, in proper doses, no inconvenience during the night, and producing no sickness or unpleasant effect during the day, so that persons may follow their usual avocations, whether of business or pleasure, in the same manner as if they had not taken the Pills. Their good effect will begin to be obvious after a week or two's use, particularly in greater clearness of mind, and an increased energy and disposition to work and to enjoy life, and their continued use in the restoration of the health to the patient. Sold by KITCHEN, TYLER & CO., and at retail by Druggists generally.

DEAFNESS
NOISES IN THE HEAD,
Diseases of the Eye, Ear & Throat,
CATARRH CURED
BY
Dr. VON EISENBERG.

From the Journal of Commerce.

EXCITING NEWS FOR THE DEAF.—An instrument called Dr. Von Eisenberg's Air Passage Expander and Regulator, a gigantic machine, weighing nearly five hundred pounds, about five feet in height, a most wonderful apparatus for restoring sight and hearing, has just arrived for Dr. Von Eisenberg, the celebrated Oculist and Aurist, and will be on exhibition at the Doctor's office, No. 816 Broadway, for a few days previous to its use. The instrument is constructed decidedly on the most scientific principles. To give a detailed description would require a greater space than we can now spare. Our Oculist and Aurist seems to do everything in the line of his profession on a gigantic scale. The new instrument for restoring hearing to the deaf and sight to the blind is so constructed that it cannot fail to open the most obstructed air passages. His new consulting rooms, No. 816 Broadway, are correspondingly magnificent, and his practice as Aurist and Oculist large and eminently successful.

From the New-York Evening Express, Feb. 14, 1863.

SENSATION AMONG THE DEAF.—The unrivaled skill of Dr. Von Eisenberg, the far-famed Oculist and Aurist, of No. 816 Broadway, has made quite a sensation among the Deaf and Blind by his wonderful cures, which attract the Deaf, Blind and those suffering from Chronic Catarrh, from all parts of the Union to his office. The number of his certificates of really wonderful cures swells daily. For the benefit of sufferers, we submit the following, which requires no comment:

NEW-YORK, Feb. 9, 1863.

I have been completely deaf in one ear, and partially so in the other, for above seventeen years, with a disagreeable discharge from both ears, combined with continual rumbling noise in the head, for which I have been treated by a most eminent practitioner in the City without the slightest relief.

I consulted Dr. Von Eisenberg, but I must candidly say that I had no faith in his success when I did so. It is, therefore, due to Dr. Von Eisenberg to acknowledge that I am entirely cured; also, that he displayed that skill and knowledge which have procured for him such an unrivaled reputation. As I have had an opportunity of comparing his mode of treatment with that of others, I can truly state that it is not only superior, but the principles which direct his mode of restoring the hearing are, in my opinion, certain.

JOHN TAYLOR,
No. 13 Livingston-st., Brooklyn.

NEW-YORK, July 19, 1862.

This certifies that my mother has been for some time afflicted with partial deafness, suffering from pain, and rumbling noises in the head, together with other indications of a total loss of hearing. Dr. Von Eisenberg removed from her ears a great quantity of matter, together with coagulated blood, relieving her instantaneously, and all without pain. It is with grateful thanks that I give this testimony to his skill.

CARROLL J. POST, No. 28 South-st.

No. 183 MERCER-ST., NEW-YORK.

J. E. VON EISENBERG, M. D.—Dear Doctor: I have been afflicted with total deafness, and was induced to pay you a visit. No one can imagine my delight when, after one operation, my hearing was suddenly, and without pain, restored to me, for which I feel very grateful. After being totally deaf—almost shut out from the pleasure of using so necessary a sense—to have it returned, and to hear so distinctly, reflects great credit on you for the immense amount of skill you possess. I beg to thank you for what I can so truly appreciate. I am, Sir, your obedient servant,

EDWARD TEMPLE HARRISON.

NEW-YORK, Nov. 6, 1862.

DR. VON EISENBERG—Dear Sir: Before taking leave of you, after your most successful operation on my ear, allow me to express my sincere thanks that, by your scientific surgical performance, I am enabled to hear distinctly, and enjoy a pleasure of which I have long been deprived—over a year. May you be rewarded by being enabled to perform many similar, to benefit other sufferers, and to your own emolument.

Allow me to present my kindest regards, and assure you of my grateful remembrance. Respectfully,

A. McDONALD REYNOLDS,
Captain Marines, United States.

CHRONIC CATARRH CURED.
READ
NEW-YORK, March 20, 1863.

"This is to certify, that I have suffered from very severe CHRONIC CATARRH, with a dull heaviness in the head. I felt my nose completely stopped up accompanied by continual soreness of the throat, the chills stealing over me with occasional hot flushes, a great tightness of the chest and pain, so much so, that every one thought it was consumption. Having heard of the great cures performed by Dr. Von Eisenberg, I consulted him with but little hope of a cure. I am now happy to be enabled to add my testimonial to the great number already in the Doctor's possession, as to his scientific and successful mode of treatment, as he has shown in my case that skill and knowledge which have procured for him so great a reputation. I am so entirely restored to perfect health that I do most sincerely recommend all sufferers from CHRONIC CATARRH and SORE THROAT to apply at once to Dr. Von Eisenberg with a certainty of being cured."

LIVER COMPLAINT AND DYSPEPSIA.

It is estimated that seven-tenths of all adult ailments proceed from a diseased and torpid liver. The biliary secretions of the liver overflowing into the stomach poison the entire system and exhibit the above symptoms.

After long research, we are able to present the most remarkable cure for these horrid nightmare diseases the world has ever produced. Within one year, over six hundred and forty thousand persons have taken the Plantation Bitters, and not an instance of complaint has come to our knowledge!

It is a most effectual tonic and agreeable stimulant, suited to all conditions of life.

The reports that it relies upon mineral substances for its active properties, are wholly false. For the public satisfaction, and that patients may consult their physicians, we append a list of its components.

CALISAYA BARK—Celebrated for over two hundred years in the treatment of Fever and Ague, Dyspepsia, Weakness, &c. It was introduced into Europe by the Countess, wife of the Viceroy of Peru, in 1640, and afterwards sold by the Jesuits for the enormous price of its own weight in silver, under the name of Jesuit's Powders, and was finally made public by Louis XVI., King of France. Humboldt makes especial reference to its febrifuge qualities during his South American travels.

CASCARILLA BARK—For diarrhea, colic and diseases of the stomach and bowels.

DANDELION—For inflammation of the loins and dropsical affections.

CAMOMILE FLOWERS—For enfeebled digestion.

LAVENDER FLOWERS—Aromatic, stimulant and tonic—highly invigorating in nervous debility.

WINTERGREEN—For scrofula, rheumatism, &c.

ANISE—An aromatic carminative; creating flesh, muscle and milk; much used by mothers nursing.

Also, clove-buds, orange, carraway, coriander, snake-root, &c.

S. T.—1860—X.

Another wonderful ingredient, of Spanish origin, imparting beauty to the complexion and brilliancy to the mind, is yet unknown to the commerce of the world, and we withhold its name for the present.

IMPORTANT CERTIFICATES.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Dec. 28, 1861.

Messrs. P. H. DRAKE & Co.: I have been a great sufferer from Dyspepsia for three or four years, and had to abandon my profession. About three months ago I tried the Plantation Bitters, and to my great joy, I am now nearly a well man. I have recommended them in several cases, and, as far as I know, always with signal benefit.

I am respectfully yours, Rev. J. S. CATHORN.

PHILADELPHIA, 10th Month, 17th Day, 1863.

RESPECTED FRIEND: My daughter has been much benefitted by the use of thy Plantation Bitters. Thou wilt send me two bottles more. Thy friend,

ASA CURRIN.

SHERMAN HOUSE, CHICAGO, Ill., Feb. 11, 1863.

MESSRS. P. H. DRAKE & Co.: Please send us another twelve cases of your Plantation Bitters. As a morning appetizer, they appear to have superseded everything else, and are greatly esteemed. Yours, &c.,

GAGE & WAITE.

Arrangements are now completed to supply any demand for this article, which, from lack of Government stamps, has not heretofore been possible.

The public may rest assured that in no case will the perfectly pure standard of the Plantation Bitters be departed from. Every bottle bears the fac simile of our signature on a steel plate engraving, or it cannot be genuine.

will cause the hair to grow in the most luxuriant manner. It is a sure preventive against baldness; prevents the hair from falling out or from turning premature gray. Will restore gray hair to its original color, by curing the disease of the scalp.

CERTIFICATES.

This is to certify that, about eighteen months ago, I commenced using STERLING'S AMBROSIA. My hair was short, thin, and rapidly falling out. I had tried many Hair Tonics, Invigorators, &c., without receiving any benefit. Soon after using the Ambrosia, my hair ceased falling out, and commenced growing so rapidly as to astonish me. Now, my hair is thick, soft and glossy, and is five feet four inches in length—when let down, reaching to the floor. This wonderful result I attribute solely to the use of STERLING'S AMBROSIA, as since I commenced using it I have applied nothing else to my hair.

USEFUL AND VALUABLE DISCOVERY!
HILTON'S INSOLUBLE CEMENT
Is of more general practical utility than any invention now before the public. It has been thoroughly tested during the last two years by practical men, and pronounced by all to be Superior to any Adhesive Preparation known.

HILTON'S INSOLUBLE CEMENT
Is a new thing, and the result of years of study; the combination is on
SCIENTIFIC PRINCIPLES,
And under no circumstances of change of temperature will it become corrupt or emit any offensive smell.

BOOT AND SHOE
Manufacturers, using Machines, will find it the best article known, for Cementing the Channels, as it works without delay, is not affected by any change of temperature.

JEWELERS
Will find it sufficiently adhesive for their use, as has been proved.

IT IS ESPECIALLY ADAPTED TO LEATHER,
And we claim as an especial merit, that it sticks patches and linings to boots and shoes sufficiently strong without stitching.

IT IS THE ONLY LIQUID CEMENT
Extant that is a sure thing for mending
FURNITURE, CROCKERY, TOYS, BONE, IVORY,
And articles of household use.

REMEMBER HILTON'S INSOLUBLE CEMENT
is in a liquid form, and as easily applied as paste.
HILTON'S INSOLUBLE CEMENT
is insoluble in water or oil.
HILTON'S INSOLUBLE CEMENT
adheres oily substances.

Supplied in Family or Manufacturers' Packages from 2 ounces to 100 pounds.

J. J. AUDUBON'S
CELEBRATED WORK ON THE BIRDS OF AMERICA, illustrated by one splendid folio volume, 27x40 inches, containing 140 magnificent plates, representing 338 figures of birds, ALL OF THE NATURAL SIZE, in action, together with the plants and trees most frequented by them. 5 vols. 8vo text, and fol. vol. of plates, half Russia, extra, $175; full Russia, superb, $200.
This magnificent volume was issued under the superintendence of his son, the late John W. Audubon, and every plate colored from the original drawings of J. J. Audubon, still in possession of his family.
In estimating the cost of this volume, the mere expense of manufacturing has been taken into consideration, without reference to the original cost of the plates, which was very great, and a small profit only has been charged on the expense thus estimated. The edition is a small one, and the work in this form will not be reproduced.

PROPOSALS.

ORDNANCE OFFICE.

WAR DEPARTMENT, WASHINGTON, March 3, 1863.

PROPOSALS will be received at this office until 4 o'clock P. M., on the 30th of APRIL, 1863, for furnishing six hundred Wrought Iron Beams, for Rails of Chassis of Sea Coast Carriages.

These beams are to be made after the following specifications:

The rail for barbette carriages is a rolled wrought-iron beam, similar in appearance to the "I" shaped beams used in the construction of fire-proof buildings. It is required to be straight and smooth on its surface, and free from flaws, imperfect welds, blisters and cinder streaks. The outer surfaces of the two flanges are planes, parallel to each other and at right angles to the web. The web joins the two flanges along their middle line, leaving them to project equally on each side, and must be without bends or corrugations.

DIMENSION OF BEAMS.

Length of rail	171	inches
Depth between outer surfaces of flanges	15	inches
Width of flanges	5.375	inches
Thickness of flange at outer edge	.75	inch.
Thickness of web	.625	inch.

These beams will be inspected after the following rules:

They are to be made of good tough, well-worked, clear iron, the absence of which qualities, (generally indicated by roughness of surface, and by checks, and more marked roughness along the edges of the flanges,) as also flaws or bad welds, blisters and streaks of cinder, will cause their rejection.

1st. They are to be of the required dimensions, and square at the ends.

2d. They are to be straight, and free from short bends in the flanges and web.

3d. The outer plane surfaces of the flanges are to be parallel to each other, and in planes perpendicular to that of the web.

4th. The webs are not to be bent or troughed, as would result from resting the rails along their whole lengths on the edges of the flanges while the webs are too hot to bear their weight.

5th. The flanges are to be perfectly equal on each side of the web.

VARIATIONS ALLOWED IN INSPECTING.

In length of rail	.50 inch
In depth of rail	.10 inch
In thickness of web	.05 inch
In warp or wind, in depth of flange at extreme end of rail	.10 inch
Difference in distance between outer edges of plane surfaces of flanges on different sides of web at any cross section of rail	.10 inch
A straight edge of equal length with the rail placed on the outer edge of the flange should not depart from it at any point more than	.15 inch
A plane surface placed on the web should not depart from it any point more than	.10 inch
A plane surface placed on the plane surface of either flange should not depart from it at any point more than	.10 inch
Departure from square in depth of rail	.15 inch

Specimens of the beams, or drawings of them, can be seen at the United States Arsenals at Fort Monroe, Virginia, Bridesburgh and Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, and Watertown, Massachusetts.

Bidders will state the number of beams they propose to furnish, the time when they will commence the delivery, which should be as early as possible, and the number they can deliver weekly after commencing the delivery, place where they will make them, and the price per pound for which they will deliver them at the point of vessel or railroad shipment nearest to their works.

No bids will be entertained except from persons actually engaged in the manufacture of iron, evidence of which must accompany the bid.

Each party obtaining a contract will be required to enter into bonds, with proper sureties for its faithful fulfillment; and a transfer of the contract to another party will cause its entire forfeiture.

The right is reserved to reject all proposals if the prices are deemed too high, or if for any cause it is not deemed for the public interest to accept them.

Proposals will be sealed and addressed to "GENERAL J. W. RIPLEY, Chief of Ordnance, Washington, D. C.," and will be indorsed "Proposals for Wrought Iron Beams."

JAS. W. RIPLEY,
Brigadier-General, Chief Ordnance.

ARMY SUPPLIES.

OFFICE OF ASSISTANT-COMMISSARY-GENERAL OF SUBSISTENCE, No. 4 State-st., New-York, April 28, 1863.

Sealed proposals will be received by the undersigned, at this office, until 4 o'clock P. M. on TUESDAY, the 12th of May, 1863, for furnishing DESICCATED AND COMPRESSED MIXED VEGETABLES, for issue to the United States army for twelve months from the first of November next, at the rate of one hundred and thirty-five thousand pounds per month.

The ingredients of the mixed vegetables furnished under the contracts of the current year are as follows, viz.: To each one hundred pounds of the mixed vegetables, twenty pounds of potatoes, twenty-two pounds of white turnips, twenty-two pounds of carrots, ten pounds of cabbage, ten pounds of onions, five pounds of string beans, five pounds of tomatoes, one pound of celery or parsley, and five pounds of rice. As the mixture can undoubtedly be improved by diminishing the quantity of some of the coarser vegetables and increasing some of the others, as well as by introducing some vegetables not heretofore used, proposers are invited to send in proposals with accompanying samples, not only of the mixture as above given, but also of other mixtures, varying therefrom according to the experience and judgment of the proposer, with a view of effecting an improvement in this article of military supply. Proposers are required to give the exact proportions of the different ingredients of their several samples, with price per pound of each, packed as required. When it is practicable, each of the vegetables in a separate state, and after desiccation, will be submitted for inspection. Only those parts of each vegetable commonly used as food will be accepted for the mixture.

The mixed vegetables are to be very compactly compressed into cakes of seven pounds each, ten of these cakes being packed in a tin or zinc box made air-tight, with two of these boxes packed in a wooden box made of suitable seasoned stuff, not less than five-eighths of an inch thick, with sunken ends one inch thick, strengthened with outside lining pieces. Boxes to be strapped with hickory at the ends.

Proposals must, so far as practicable, be accompanied with at least one box as above described, with contents of the proposer's own manufacture of each of the mixtures he may offer to furnish.

The location of the manufacturing establishment must be stated.

There being a choice among the different varieties of vegetables, proposers will state with precision the especial varieties they use, or propose to use, in their mixtures.

Each bid, to have consideration, must contain the written guarantee of two responsible names, as follows:

"We, the undersigned, hereby agree that should all or any part of the above bid be accepted, we will give our bond in the sum of ten thousand dollars that the contract shall be duly fulfilled.
———————."

Proposals must be indorsed "Proposals for Dessicated and Compressed Mixed Vegetables."

Madame RESTELL, Female Physician, No. 162 Chambers-street, deems it her duty to caution ladies against impostors, who appropriate her advertisements, word for word, merely substituting some ignorant and wholly irresponsible person as "Madame."

These persons have spurious "Female Monthly Pills" and other poisonous compounds to deprive the unwary or the easily duped, as well of their means as of their health. That ladies may avoid these impositions, Madame Restell feels called upon to give this caution.

MAURICEAU, Professor of Diseases of Women, has just published the 10th edition of the valuable book, entitled "THE MARRIED WOMAN'S PRIVATE MEDICAL COMPANION," strictly intended for those whose health or circumstances forbid a too rapid increase of family. Price $1. Sold at his office, No. 129 Liberty-st., New-York; or can be sent by mail, free of postage to any part of the United States and Canada, by inclosing $1, and addressing Box No. 1,224 New-York City. For sale by H. RICHARDSON, at No. 1 Vesey-st., (Astor House,) and No. 18 Ann-st.; FEDERHEN & CO., 13 Court-st., Boston.

A PHYSIOLOGICAL VIEW OF MARRIAGE—Containing nearly 300 pages and 150 fine plates and engravings of the anatomy of the sexual organs, in a state of health and disease, with a treatise on self-abuse, its deplorable consequences upon the mind and body, with the author's plan of treatment—the only rational and successful mode of cure, as shown by the report of cases treated. A truthful adviser to the married and those contemplating marriage, who entertain doubts of their physical condition. Sent free of postage to any address on receipt of 25 cents, in specie or postage stamps. Address Dr. LA CROIX, No. 31 Maiden-lane, Albany, N. Y.

DR. WARD'S MAGICAL INVIGORATORS, IN the form of Pills, will, in fifteen minutes after being taken, make the recipient as vigorous as if nature had never been retarded or debilitated. To the married or single, in every physical exigency, this unrivaled medicine is earnestly recommended as a complete restorative of the nervous system where manhood has been impaired. Procured of Dr. WARD, No. 12 Laight-st., near Canal. Call or send for circulars.

DR. POWERS' PERIODICAL DROPS are designed for both married and single ladies, and are the very best thing known for the purpose, as they will bring on the monthly sickness in cases of obstruction from any cause, and after all other remedies of the kind have been tried in vain. Expressly for obstinate cases; warranted as represented in every respect, or the price will be refunded. ☞ Beware of imitations! Purchase directly of Dr. POWERS, No. 12 Laight-st., New-York.

DR. HUNTER'S RED DROP RESTORES the vigor of youth in four days. Restores manhood to the most shattered system. No. 3 Division-st., New-York, the only place. Beware of bogus Dr. Hunters. The City is full of knaves, up to every trick to rob him of his great reputation as a skillful and reliable physician. He has no other office but No. 3 Division-st. Established in 1834. Eight separate rooms and a private entrance.

SOMETHING FOR EVERY LADY.—DR. WARD'S Great Female Benefactor or Golden Regulating Pills. Infallible in correcting, regulating and removing all obstructions, from whatever cause, and they will never disappoint the anxious patient. Office, No. 12 Laight-st., where Dr. WARD can be consulted, confidentially, day and evening.

DR. JOHNSON, NO. 14 DUANE-ST., MAY be consulted with confidence on private diseases. Thirty years in one speciality enables him to guarantee speedy and permanent cures. N. B.—Those who may have been misled by quack advertisements, nostrums, &c., can call on Dr. J. with the certainty of receiving honorable treatment.

PRIVATE CONSULTATION.—DR. HUNTER has, for thirty years, confined his attention to diseases of a certain class, in which he has treated no less than fifty thousand cases, without an instance of failure. His great remedy, HUNTER'S RED DROP, cures certain diseases, when regular treatment and all other remedies fail; cures without dieting or restriction in the habits of the patient; cures without the disgusting and sickening effects of all other remedies; cures in new cases in less than six hours; cures without the dreadful consequent effects of mercury, but possesses the peculiarly valuable property of annihilating the rank and poisonous taint that the blood is sure to absorb, unless his remedy is used. That is what he claims for it, and what no other will accomplish. Its value in this respect has become so well known, that scientific men in every department of medical knowledge begin to appreciate it, for hardly a week passes that he is not consulted by druggists, chemists and physicians, in regard to some pitiful patient who has exhausted the whole field of the faculty, and still the disease will appear. Its popularity is so great, that there is not a quack doctor in the City that has not attacked it; and when they find their lies are not so easily swallowed, they then pretend that they can make it. It is $1 a vial, and cannot be obtained genuine anywhere but at the old office, No. 3 Division-st. Book for 15 three-cent stamps, 300 pages, 100 colored illustrations. The best work out.

WINTER GARDEN.

FOURTH NIGHT
OF THE
REIGN OF MERRIMENT.
The management has sincere pleasure in chronicling
THE BRILLIANT SUCCESS of
the young Comedian
MR. J. S. CLARKE,

who has renewed with increased éclat that dramatic triumph which, on his first appearance in New-York, won for him by the universal voice of the Press and the public the position of

THE GREATEST COMIC ARTIST
of our time.

Mr. Clarke's Toodles is beyond praise. His drunk is so natural, he must have been brought up on the bottle. The audience was kept in a scream of laughter from the rising of the curtain to the falling thereof.—New-York Herald.

The new drama of "Luck" affords the chief comedian an opportunity to create an original character, and this is a faculty which Mr. Clarke possesses to an extent perhaps unrivaled by any performer of the day.—New-York Times.

The character of Peter Waxem is one which, to be made truly and artistically effective, demands qualities that no other actor before the public so amply possesses as Mr. Clarke. Simplicity, deep tenderness, a frank and hearty temper, and a keen sense of sport, are its attributes. These were embodied with the utmost sincerity and fine feeling.—New-York Tribune.

The best comedian, in the true and definite sense of that word, whom New-York has welcomed in many a long day.—New-York Albion.

We feel satisfied we have at last a great comedian among us.—Home Journal.

Mr. Clarke possesses the inspiration of genius, the very spirit of eccentric comedy, which never permits itself to be betrayed into exaggerated and merely clap-trap manifestations. His perception of the ludicrous is so exquisite as to enable him to give all the points with the skill and daring of a true artist, without once stepping beyond the nicest sense of fitness and propriety.—Sunday Times.

THURSDAY, April 30,
and
EVERY NIGHT,
MR. J. S. CLARKE
will appear in the eccentric character,
PETER WAXEM,
OR THE GENTLEMAN OF NATURE,

LATER FROM MEXICO.

Advices from Puebla to April 6.

The French Still Bombarding the City.

Destruction of the Convent of San Agustin.

San Francisco, Tuesday, April 28.

The steamship Constitution has arrived from Panama, bringing dates from the City of Mexico to the 8th, and Puebla 6th inst., received via Acapulco, at which port she touched.

Since the 31st ult. the French had kept up a constant bombardment of Puebla. Their fire had destroyed the convent of San Augstin and six blocks of buildings, with no special progress toward occupying the city.

The fight continued on the 6th inst.

Gen. Comonfort, with 15,000 soldiers, was defending the road leading toward the City of Mexico, and was having continued skirmishes with the French.

The foregoing news is, of course, from Mexican sources, the authorities stating that but a small portion of the obstacles in the way of the capture of Puebla were yet overcome.

The ship Kathay sailed to-day for Hong Kong.

San Francisco, Wednesday, April 29.

French papers publish letters from the City of Mexico to the 8th, representing that Forey is in possession of the environs of Puebla, and master of the communications and fortified works, commanding the city. He continued advancing slowly but surely without sacrificing soldiers. Intelligent persons think Forey has maneouvred to enclose the Mexican army in Puebla, and will ultimately capture all, more than 20,000.

Official accounts of the same date take an encouraging view and say the besieged forces were fully able to repulse the French—the principal fortifications still remaining intact. There are sixty-four fortified buildings in the city, including three fortresses of great strength. The Mexican soldiers have shown remarkable bravery. The French lost some five hundred in killed and wounded in attacking our fortification.

Slow Progress of the French—The Mexicans the Best Fighters.

The following is an extract from a letter written by a highly intelligent American gentleman, residing in the City of Mexico. It is dated April 1:

"The French are doing their best in attacking Puebla, and have been bombarding, cannonading and assaulting, but, so far, without success. On the contrary, the Mexicans have shown themselves the best soldiers and have carried off all the glory. I believe the Mexicans will triumph there. On the night of the 27th ult., a furious assault was made on the fort of San Javier, (southwest angle of the city,) but was repulsed with great loss on the part of the French. The Mexicans drew out their artillery into the open field in front of their fortifications, and fought there without cover, perhaps to prove their capacity of doing thus to the French, who have said they were too cowardly. On the 30th, Comonfort, with his army of the centre outside the city, offered battle in the open field, which the French declined, retreating to their intrenchments. I think the French will soon have to retire from this siege for want of provisions; and as they will not probably leave the country unless pursued and compelled to do so, they will, I suppose, remain inactive, as for the past year, and await reinforcements.

NEWS BY WAY OF HAVANA.

Hard Fighting at Puebla—The French Reported to Hold One-half of the City—The Defeat of Comonfort by Berthier not True—Comonfort on the Other Side of Rio Pueto.

[The following letter from our Havana correspondent reaches us by the steamer Sheldrake, which arrived at this port last evening.]

Havana, Thursday, April 23, 1863.

Fighting has at last begun at Puebla and as will be seen in the accompanying details which are from French sources, the defenders of Puebla have behaved heroically; although the result may possibly be disastrous for them, this their enemies are compelled to acknowledge. The news received from Puebla is up to the 9th inst., when the mail left that place for Vera Cruz, arriving there on the 15th. The first official account of the doings of the French there is as follows:

The city was completely surrounded on the 23d of March. An intrenchment had already been made from the hill of San Juan in the direction of the city, and on the 27th the firing was opened upon the Penitentiary, which was well fortified. A breach was made in it, and this position was taken by storm on the 31st.

The French troops took successively, at the point of the bayonet, two other fortified positions, and then entered the city, occupying two of the principal streets, which led to the Place d'Armes.

Having carried the first barricades of these two streets, the French soldiers, who were all Zouaves, and of the Ninety-ninth regiment of the line, assisted by the sappers and miners, opened a way into the inside of the houses in order to dislodge the Mexicans who defended them bravely. Their intention was to penetrate in this manner to the Place d'Armes, and take possession of it and the Cathedral, which had been converted into a kind of fortress.

The whole city was filled with barricades, the greater part of the houses were fortified, and the defenders of Puebla fought with firmness.

On the 3d inst., the French forces had possession of about a third part of the city, and were still distant about a hundred metres from the Place d'Armes. Up to that day, the French had about 150 killed and nearly 500 wounded, many of the latter slightly.

The expeditionary force amounted to rather more than 26,000 men, but only 18,000 were detailed in the taking of the city, although not all together, for Gen. Forey, says the French account, acted with great prudence and only moved two or three battalions at a time under fire.

The Diario de la Marina of this city, from which the above account is translated, says: "But here we must add, with reference to intelligence also worthy of credit, that Gen. Forey was persuaded that the taking of Puebla would cost much labor and bloodshed, but that he was completely confident of triumphing."

Both in the taking of the Penitentiary, as well as in the Fort San Javier, and in the first houses and intrenchments that were taken, there were many killed and wounded on both sides. The loss of the French in killed and wounded did not exceed from 560 to 600 men, the number of the wounded being greater than that of those killed.

The Penitentiary having been set on fire during the attack, about a hundred Mexicans were burned very severely, who were taken to the military hospital of the French, and attended with the greatest care. In the taking of those positions the Mexicans lost about 300 men, killed, wounded and taken prisoners; the French from 75 to 80.

During the attack on the Penitentiary, the French General of artillery, M. Vernet de Laumiere, would mount an intrenchment, although he was advised not to do so, and paid dear for his imprudence, receiving a very severe wound in the head. Col. Garnier, of the Fifty-first regiment, was wounded by a ball in the arm. Four or five other officers, Lieutenants and Captains, were killed and wounded.

The Mexican force was estimated at about 25,000 men. Provisions were getting very scarce, and principally water, for the wells were almost all exhausted.

Gen. Forey had stationed on the road to Mexico a sufficiently large force to hold Gen. Comonfort in check.

The Diario de la Marina adds: "With the above concludes the account up to the 3d, but by a mail which left Puebla in company with a convoy and which arrived at Vera Cruz on the 16th it was known by letters from partisans of Juarez and by one from the French military administration that both the Place d'Armes of Puebla, as well as the Cathedral had been taken after a hard struggle. So that the French held the city as it were divided into two parts. It remained to be known whether the forts of Guadalupe and Loreto would not turn their artillery against the part occupied by the French."

On the 9th ult., Vernet de Laumiere, the General of artillery, died of the severe wound that he had received. He is spoken of as a very talented and courageous officer, and was highly esteemed.

The account of the defeat of Comonfort by Gen. Berthier proves to have been false. The Diario de la Marina from which I translated it, makes in its issue of to-day a correction.

Gen. Comonfort continued still on the other side of Rio Pueto, being held in check by three French regiments.

The French man-of-war Jean Bart, which arrived the day before yesterday, brought the news, but nothing was published until the official sanction had been received. On board of the Jean Bart there were several sick Zouaves. Havana is being turned completely into a hospital for the sick and wounded French soldiers that come from Mexico.

The Diario de la Marina mentions as having received from good authority, that when the Penitentiary was taken Gen. Ortega demanded of Forey a truce, in order that the women, children and old men might leave the place, which was not granted by the French Commander, he giving as a reason, that before the attack took place four days had been offered for that purpose, which was not accepted.

From Venezuela we have news to the 23d ult. Caracas is safe, as the Revolutionists have been beaten after three days skirmishing. They have shared the same fate in Savabobo and Aragua. Guayana is quiet, and no apprehensions are entertained of disturbance in the east.

A quantity of cotton-seed had been received from the United States, and sent to the different States for planting.

From Puerto Rico we have dates to the 16th inst., and from St. Domingo to the 6th. Nothing had transpired of interest.

THE WRECK OF THE ANGLO-SAXON

237 Lives Lost out of 445 on Board.

Montreal, Wednesday, April 29.

A dispatch from the mail officer on the Anglo-Saxon says all the mails are lost, and that 237 lives are lost out of a total of 445 souls.

This terrible disaster would undoubtedly have been avoided, but for the unaccountable refusal of the British Government to permit the Associated Press, New-York Underwriters, Transatlantic Steamship Companies, and other parties in New-York, to place one of Daboll's powerful air-trumpets at Cape Race, which would be distinctly heard in foggy weather from six to ten miles at sea, and would save millions of property and hundreds of lives.

A VICTORY IN ALABAMA.

Tuscumbia Captured by Gen. Dodge's Forces.

Cairo, Wednesday, April 29.

The Memphis Bulletin (which has resumed publication under close censorship) states that the Federals occupy Tuscumbia. The attack was made on the place last night, and, after a stout resistance, the rebels were driven out.

Chicago, Wednesday, April 29.

A special Cairo dispatch says, by way of Memphis we have news of the capture of Tuscumbia. It was held by the rebel Col. Chalmers, whose forces have been very troublesome lately in the vicinity of the Tennessee river. Last Thursday Gen. Dodge attacked him. A severe engagement ensued. Chalmers stoutly contested the ground, but was, however, compelled to fall back. The Federal loss is stated at 100. The rebel loss is not given. Gen Dodge is in possession of Tuscumbia. The rebel communication by that route is cut off.

DEPARTMENT OF NORTH CAROLINA.

Our Forces Strengthening the Fortifications at Newbern and Washington.

By the transport Ellen S. Terry, Capt. Chapin, we have advices from Newbern, N. C., to the 26th inst. All was quiet. The troops are engaged in strengthening the fortifications at Newbern and Washington.

No forward movement to be expected in some time. Gen. Foster is still at Newbern superintending affairs.

OUR NEWBERN CORRESPONDENCE.

SUMMARY OF RECENT EVENTS—SKIRMISHES WITH THE RETREATING ENEMY, ETC.

Newbern, Friday, April 24, 1863.

The siege of Washington, N. C., has been raised. The steamer Escort passed the batteries on the 13th with reinforcements, and with ammunition and supplies. The next night Gen. Foster passed down by the batteries, receiving the fire on both sides of the river. The Escort received near a hundred shots. Her pilot was killed. Gen. Foster, on arrival at Newbern, put everything in motion. Gen. Prince was ordered to move toward Kinston with Jourdan's brigade and Riggs' battery, reinforced by a company of cavalry and the Fifty-eighth regiment Pennsylvania Volunteers. Gens. Wessells and Naglee, with Gen. Foster, moved upon the road on the 16th, over the same ground where Gen. Spinola had been forced to retire. The enemy receiving information that Gen. Prince had moved so as to take them in their rear and flank, raised the siege and retired. Gen. Foster, who moved the day after Gen. Prince, could not overtake the flying enemy. Gen. Prince came upon the enemy's advance guard about eight miles from Kinston, and drove them before him. He came upon them at Sandy Ridge, killing and wounding many, and capturing about 100 prisoners. They could not be induced to stand, and fled with haste toward Kinston and Goldsboro. Gen. Prince followed them up until orders came for him to fall back so as to be able to coöperate more fully with Gen. Foster's command, in case of necessity. Our loss was about forty killed and wounded. Things are again assuming their wonted quiet here. If the Government will only send sufficient force here for Gen. Foster to take the offensive, he can do much to harass the enemy in North Carolina, with such fighting men as Naglee, Prince and Wessells, and the troops under their command.

Lieut.-Col. Lewis, in command of a portion of the New-York cavalry on the Trent road, came upon a body of the enemy, charged and drove them, and took several prisoners. The enemy have been kept in lively suspense for a few days, and have retired to their strongholds.

THE REBEL PRIVATEERS.

An Unsuccessful Attempt to Capture the Bark Lysander.

Boston, Thursday, April 29.

Capt. Glover, of the bark Lysander, from Cienfuegos, reports: April 10, off Colorado Reef, saw a vessel on fire; being afraid of pirates, stood away. April 12, lat. 23° 18', lon. 83° 45', we were chased by a small schooner privateer. He came alongside and ordered me to heave-to and send my boat on board of him. I refused, and called all hands, and ordered the small arms to be got ready. The pirate saw the crew rush aft with muskets, and concluded to let us pass. He then stood away in chase of a schooner under our lee.

[The schooner privateer above referred to, was unquestionably the bark Lapwing, which was seized by the Florida on March 27, in lat. 31°, lon. 32°, and provided with two guns and a crew of eighteen men by the pirate Florida.—Ed. Times.]

The National Finances.

Philadelphia, Wednesday, April 29.

Jay Cooke, the general subscription agent, reports the sales of five-twenties to-day at $2,151,700, distributed as follows: New-York, $880,000; Boston and New-England, $500,000; Philadelphia and Pennsylvania, $408,700; Ohio, $183,000; Baltimore and Washington, $100,000; Michigan, Illinois and Indiana, $80,000—total, $2,151,700. Large orders are anticipated for May 1, as on that day the interest on these bonds is paid, and investments can be made without any calculation of interest.

Arrival of the Steamer St. Andrew.

Portland, Wednesday, April 29.

The steamship St. Andrew, Capt. Kera, from Glasgow 9th, arrived here to-day.

NEWS FROM WASHINGTON.

OUR SPECIAL WASHINGTON DISPATCHES.

Washington, Wednesday, April 29.

GEN. BANKS' OPERATIONS.

Dispatches from Gen. Banks to the President this evening confidently declare the inability of the rebels to reconstruct their military power in Louisiana in less than three months, if at all. He more than confirms all the published reports of our successes. The President, pointing on a map to the region about and below Port Hudson, playfully remarked, "that concern is closed up."

PORT HUDSON.

An officer of Commodore Farragut's fleet, writing here, says that a rebel officer, lately captured near Port Hudson, confessed that had the attack upon that place been persevered in for an hour longer, the rebels would have been forced to abandon it, so fierce was the fire of our gunboats. A short time before the firing ceased, an order was issued by the rebel commander to spike the guns and fall back from the river. The rebels had a number of guns dismounted.

NEW GOLD MINES.

Indian Agent Burleigh writes to Commissioner Dole that gold in immense quantities has recently been discovered near the headwaters of the Missouri, 200 miles west of Fort Benton. The mines are astonishingly rich, as specimens received by the Commissioner abundantly prove. Already 800 miners have arrived from California and Columbia River. They average from $15 to $20 per day.

REVENUE DECISION.

The Commissioner of Internal Revenue decided to-day that if a husband and wife live together, and their aggregate income is in excess of $600 per annum, they will be entitled to but one deduction of $600. If a man and wife do not live together, but maintain separate establishments, they must be taxed separately, and will be each entitled to the $600 deduction.

THE TWO-YEAR MEN.

Senator Morgan and Gen. Sprague, who are now here on business connected with the mustering out of the two-year New-York troops, have requested of the Secretary of War that the men shall be mustered out of service at the places where they were mustered in, and that the commissions of all officers who reënlist and raise companies or regiments shall date back to their original entry into the service. The Secretary of War has the matter under advisement, and will probably accede to the proposition.

THE MUNICIPAL ELECTION.

Ward meetings held to-night show unprecedented excitement in regard to the coming municipal election. The Administration and Reform party is determined and confident. The Copperheads are more alert and venomous than ever.

HONORABLY ACQUITTED.

Brig.-Gen. Fitz-Henry Warren was to-day honorably acquitted of every one of the malicious charges preferred against him in regard to the organization of his cavalry regiment in Iowa.

CADET APPOINTMENTS.

The following is a list of Cadet appointments "at large" made by the President for 1863, viz.:

1. Ashbel H. Crain, of Maine.
2. Frederick A. Mahan, of New-York.
3. Wm. A. Cunningham, of New-York.
4. John Cameron, of Pennsylvania.
5. Henry W. Sheeter, of Illinois.
6. Chas. L. Heintzelman.
7. Geo. Sumner Jenkins.
8. John J. D. Kingsbury, of Connecticut.
9. Washington Hunt Walbridge, of Ohio.
10. Chas. Harrod Campbell.

GEN. GORDON.

Gen. Gordon will be assigned to the command of a division under Gen. Dix.

REVENUE STAMPS.

On an average 125,000 revenue stamps of different denominations are used daily throughout the country.

DISPATCHES TO THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.

Washington, Wednesday, April 29.

OBSERVANCE OF FAST.

Brig.-Gen. Martindale, Military Governor of the District of Columbia, has issued a general order, stating that to-morrow will be observed by the officers and men in his command as a day of fasting and humiliation. He says that a soldier, who is moved to the performance of his duty in battle or elsewhere by the inspiration of God's presence in his mind and purposes, will be incited by an influence of immense power; and that a whole nation, stimulated and exalted by such influences, would be irresistible.

REBEL TROOPS IN EAST TENNESSEE.

Letters from East Tennessee say that there are but few rebel troops there, who could easily be driven out by five thousand men from our own side. Though still tyrannically oppressed, the great mass of the people remain loyal.

PROPERTY SEIZED FOR CONFISCATION.

The United States Marshal has seized the property and real estate of Dr. Cornelius Boyle, amounting, it is supposed, to between $30,000 and $50,000, and the Supreme Court for the District of Columbia, on information filed by the District-Attorney, has issued an order for persons interested to show cause why the property shall not be condemned and sold under the Confiscation act. This is the first case under that law in the District. Dr. Boyle was Commander of the National Volunteers, organized here at the commencement of the rebellion to assist in seizing the public buildings for the benefit of the rebels, and soon after the inauguration of Lincoln left for the South, where he has been cruelly exercising the office of Provost-Marshal.

ACTING ASSISTANT SURGEONS.

William W. Wentworth and William F. Hutchinson have been appointed Acting Assistant Surgeons. The former is ordered to the Preble, the latter to the Vincennes. Acting Assistant-Surgeon Geo. R. Nairn has been ordered to the Wissahickon.

PROPERTY SOLD.

The lots and buildings occupied as the office of the National Intelligencer were sold this afternoon for $80,100. The competition in bidding was spirited. There are about 12,600 square feet of ground. This is the largest sale of real estate ever offered in Washington. The high price obtained is regarded as indicative of confidence moneyed men have in the stability of the value of property.

AN IMPORTANT CASE.

The decision in the Cumberland coal case, involving the title to half the mines owned by that Company, and now pending before the Court of Appeals at Annapolis, cannot be rendered before the next June or October term. The case excites much interest here and in Maryland, having twice been decided against the Company, and, the last time, under the decision of the Court of Appeals.

CLERKS IN THE ADJUTANT-GENERAL'S OFFICE.

Thirty or forty new Clerks have been appointed in the Adjutant-General's office, and among them several Sergeants of fine clerical ability, who had previously been engaged in that capacity.

DISCHARGED SOLDIERS.

Discharged soldiers mustered out of the service, their term of service having expired, are arriving here daily from the Rappahannock.

Railroad Convention at Buffalo.

Buffalo, Wednesday, April 29.

The Railroad Convention assembled to-day. Nineteen companies were represented. The object of the meeting was to consider the subject of paying commissions on passenger traffic, and the proposed advances in rates upon emigrant travel. A Committee of eleven was appointed, whose recommendations were unanimously agreed to. The following are among the recommendations: That the New-York Central, Erie, Pennsylvania Central and Baltimore and Ohio roads, or a majority of them, shall establish in New-York and Boston, a union office, to be under the exclusive control of the lines establishing it, so far as relates to the employment of agents; also, that union offices may be established at Buffalo, Cleveland, Cincinnati, Indianapolis, St. Louis, Chicago, and Milwaukee at the discretion of the lines competing for business; that after June 1, no tickets shall be received or accredited upon any lines represented in this Convention which are not sold in the offices of the railroad Companies, upon their respective lines or in the offices to be established, and that tickets sold by other lines, through Commissioners, Agents or otherwise, in violation of the principles of this agreement, shall not be accredited or received by roads, parties to this agreement, and that all tickets in the hands of outside agents at freight, hotel, or express offices, or elsewhere, shall be withdrawn before the above date. Other recommendations were passed, but the foregoing touch the principal objects of the meeting, which adjourned this afternoon. The proceedings were very harmonious.

The Rothschilds and the Union.

From Harper's Weekly.

Consulate-General of the U. S. A.,
Frankfort-on-the-Main, March 16, 1863.

In your paper (Harper's Weekly) of Feb. 28, you do a great injustice to the eminent firm of Rothschilds here, when you hint that they are like a certain Rabbi who held opinions that some men were born to be slaves. I know not what the other firms—and there are many of the Rothschilds, all related—in Europe think of Slavery, but here the firm of M. A. Von Rothschild & Son are opposed to Slavery and in favor of Union. A converted Jew, Erlanger, has taken the rebel loan of £3,000,000, and lives in this city; and Baron Rothschild informed me that all Germany condemned this act of lending money to establish a slaveholding Government, and that so great was public opinion against it that Erlanger & Co. dare not offer it on the Frankfort Bourse. I further know that the Jews rejoice to think that none of their sect would be guilty of lending money for the purpose above named; but it was left, they say, for apostate Jews to do it.

I hope you will correct the statement you made about this firm.

Yours truly,
W. W. MURPHY.

New-York and Erie Locomotive House Burned Down—Loss About $30,000.—Last night about 8¾ o'clock a fire broke out in the New-York and Erie locomotive car house, in Jersey City, fronting on Prospect-street, and running through to Provost-street. The flames spread very rapidly, and, notwithstanding the Fire Department were soon at work, the building was nearly burned to the ground in half an hour. There were some ten locomotives in the building, all of which were removed except three. They were valued at about $12,000 each, and are badly damaged. There was also a stationary engine in the building, which is rendered nearly useless. The fire originated in the oil-room at the east end. The building was built of wood, about 400 feet in length and 40 feet wide. A gentleman who has a good opportunity to know states that the loss would be about $30,000, upon which, it is reported, there was no insurance.

HELMBOLD'S REMEDIES.

THE GREAT "AMERICAN REMEDIES," KNOWN AS
"HELMBOLD'S"
GENUINE PREPARATIONS, viz.:
HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT "BUCHU."
HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT SARSAPARILLA.
HELMBOLD'S IMPROVED ROSE WASH.

HELMBOLD'S GENUINE PREPARATION,
"HIGHLY CONCENTRATED"
COMPOUND
FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU,

A positive and specific Remedy for Diseases of the BLADDER, KIDNEYS, GRAVEL and DROPSICAL SWELLINGS.

This medicine increases the power of digestion and excites the absorbents into healthy action, by which the water or calcareous depositions, and all unnatural enlargements, are reduced, as well as pain and inflammation, and is good for Men, Women or Children.

HELMBOL'DS EXTRACT BUCHU,

for Weaknesses arising from Excesses, Habits of Dissipation, Early Indiscretion or Abuse, attended with the

FOLLOWING SYMPTOMS:

Indisposition to Exertion,
Loss of Memory,
Weak Nerves,
Horror of Disease,
Dimness of Vision,
Universal Lassitude of the Muscular System,
Hot Hands,
Dryness of the Skin.
Loss of Power,
Difficulty in Breathing,
Trembling,
Wakefulness,
Pain in the Back,
Flushing of the Body,
Eruptions on the Face,
Pallid Countenance,

These symptoms, if allowed to go on, which this medicine invariably removes, soon follow

IMPOTENCY, FATUITY, EPILEPTIC FITS,

in one of which the patient may expire. Who can say they are not frequently followed by those "direful diseases,"

INSANITY AND CONSUMPTION!

Many are aware of the cause of their suffering, but none will confess. The records of the Insane Asylums, and the melancholy deaths by Consumption, bear ample witness to the truth of the assertion.

THE CONSTITUTION ONCE AFFECTED BY ORGANIC WEAKNESS, requires the aid of medicine to strengthen and invigorate the system, which HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU invariably does. A trial will convince the most skeptical.

FEMALES! FEMALES! FEMALES!
OLD OR YOUNG, SINGLE, MARRIED, OR CONTEMPLATING MARRIAGE.

In many affections peculiar to Females, the Extract Buchu is unequaled by any other remedy, as in Chlorosis or Retention, Irregularities, Painfulness, or Suppression of Customary Evacuations, Ulcerated or Scirrhous state of the Uterus, Leucorrhea or Whites, Sterility, and for all complaints incident to the sex, whether arising from indiscretion, Habits of Dissipation, or in the DECLINE OR CHANGE OF LIFE.

SEE SYMPTOMS ABOVE.
NO FAMILY SHOULD BE WITHOUT IT.

Take no Balsam, Mercury or Unpleasant Medicine, for Unpleasant and Dangerous Diseases.
HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU
CURES SECRET DISEASES

in all their stages, at little Expense; little or no change in Diet; no inconvenience, AND NO EXPOSURE.

It causes frequent desire and gives strength to Urinate, thereby removing obstructions, preventing and curing strictures of the urethra, allaying pain and inflammation, so frequent in this class of diseases, and expelling POISONOUS, DISEASED AND WORN-OUT MATTER.

Thousands upon thousands who have been the

VICTIMS OF QUACKS,

and who have paid HEAVY FEES to be cured in a short time, have found they were deceived, and that the "Poison" has, by the use of "Powerful Astringents," been dried up in the system, to break out in an aggravated form, and

PERHAPS AFTER MARRIAGE.

USE
HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU

for all Affections and Diseases of the URINARY ORGANS, whether existing in MALE OR FEMALE, from whatever cause originating, and no matter of how long standing. Diseases of these Organs require the aid of a DIURETIC.

HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU
IS THE GREAT DIURETIC,

and it is certain to have the desired effect in all Diseases for which it is recommended.

BLOOD! BLOOD! BLOOD!
HELMBOLD'S HIGHLY CONCENTRATED COMPOUND FLUID EXTRACT SARSAPARILLA.
SYPHILIS.

This is an affection of the Blood, and attacks the sexual organs, Linings of the Nose, Ears, Throat, Windpipe and other Mucus Surfaces, making its appearance in the form of Ulcers. HELMBOLD'S Extract Sarsaparilla purifies the Blood, and removes all Scaly Eruptions of the Skin, giving to the Complexion a Clear and Healthy Color. It being prepared expressly for this class of complaints, its Blood-purifying properties are preserved to a greater extent than any other preparation of Sarsaparilla.

HELMBOLD'S ROSE WASH,

an excellent lotion for diseases of a Syphilitic nature, and as an injection in diseases of the Urinary Organs arising from habits of dissipation, used in connection with the Extracts Buchu and Sarsaparilla, in such diseases as recommended. Evidence of the most responsible and reliable character will accompany the medicines.
